Cops nab alleged AHS dealers

'They wanted the name'

By Neil Fater

Andover police have arrested two teenage Andover High students they consider to be the main suppliers of marijuana at the school. But police say the two students didn't sell drugs for the money.

After all, they operated their drug business out of a home worth nearly $590,000.

"They wanted the name. They wanted to be known as the guys to go to," says Detective Jim Haggerty.

But in the end, it was that name that caused the alleged dealers illegal business to

Teacher expecting quadruplets Class of her own

Cheryl Scammell, an Andover native and teacher at West Middle School, is the mother of a 2-year-old. Technicians told her during the first ultrasound of her second pregnancy that she was pregnant with twins.

Then, at the end of the session, an ultrasound technician-in-training asked, "What's that one up there?" Scammell says.

So Scammell returned three weeks later to find out if she was having twins or triplets.

"And there it was on the screen, clear as a bell. Four."

Hands on — Using puppets and feigning injury to draw attention to their "Death and Taxes Resistance Festival," protesters like Tharah Montefusco (above, left) marched from Andover's IRS to the nearby Raytheon plant on Saturday. Several were arrested for trespassing at the weapons facility. (See story, page 42.)

Out of the closet — Officials hope residents will end closet classrooms and other problems by approving several articles at Town Meeting next week. Topping the ballot is a $31.9 million request to build two new schools.

DAYS OF DECISION

Growing Andover will look to ease its needs for new classrooms, sports fields, sidewalks, senior tax breaks and a number of other projects at Annual Town Meeting next week.

Town Meeting will begin at the Andover High School field house Monday and Tuesday, April 24 and 25, and continue May 1 and 2 at the Collins Center if necessary. Each night's work will begin at 7.

Though the warrant is loaded with articles, the big attention-getters are the ones dealing with a $31.9 million request to build a new elementary and a new middle school near Cross Street and High Plain Road.

Articles 9, 11 and 12, plus a debt exclusion vote on May 23, must be approved if Andover is to have two new schools.

Article 9 seeks $31.9 million for construction of both schools, and the sewer line and sidewalks on the school site. The cost to Andover after 60-percent state reimbursement would be $12.6 million.

Article 11 proposes a conservation land swap with AVIS to make room for the schools' sewer line. Article 12 confirms the town's ownership of the West Andover land where the schools would be built. (For more on the schools articles, see page 15.)

Some other significant Town Meeting votes will include those dealing with:

• Conditional schools-related articles.

These will only be discussed if the new schools project is approved. Article 10 seeks $600,000 to build sidewalks in the neighborhood surrounding the proposed schools. Article 13 asks for $3.4 million to allow nearby residents to connect to the new sewer line running to the schools. (See page 15.)

• The $90 million budget.

The Finance Committee and selectmen disagree on Article 4, with the FinCom saying Andover must slow its budget and debt growth. (See page 14.)

• Sidewalk work.

Besides asking to build sidewalks near the new schools, the town is supporting Article 66, seeking another $600,000 to restore existing sidewalks.

There are also four private articles, totaling $905,000, because some residents want sidewalks on Woburn Street, High Plain Road near West Elementary School, High Street or Chestnut Street. (See page 7.)

• Playing fields.

Article 28 asks for $1.1 million to create three fields and other improvements at the Recreation Park gravel pit, while Article 34 seeks $50,000 to design fields near the West Andover fire station. (See page 17.)

• Powder Mill Square.

Article 62 grants the town access to a strip of land that would widen Stevens Street between the Post Office and the Shawsheen River. Articles 63 and 64 are two versions of the same provision, required by planners, that make developers of the so-called Powder Mill Square site grant part of their property to the town for flood-water storage. (See page 16.)

• Dracut power plant fight.

Article 72 seeks $145,000 to allow the town to continue its legal work opposing the proposed Nickel Hill plant. (See page 40.)

Opening the arts

Confetti program rips it up

People of all ages and backgrounds had a chance to learn about the arts recently, thanks to Turning the Wheel Productions, a dance and theater group from Boulder, Colo. For nine days the national project was in our area.

Confetti's artistic directors toured a variety of settings in Andover and Lawrence, including Phillips Academy, South School and the Andover Senior Center.

Their mission? To spark interest in people who wouldn't normally partake in the arts.

According to Sarah Grieco, co-director of Confetti 2000, this mission was accomplished.

"The entire experience was phenomenal. Each community is different in its own way. This group was extremely heartfelt and shared a lot of expression and love," she says.

At the end of the nine-day workshop, participants were welcome to perform the work they created at the Tang Theater at Phillips Academy on Saturday.

Some acted, other told stories and one woman sang a Greek lullaby.

Midge Brecher, local artist and teacher involved in the project, lauded the experience. "Lots of friends were made and that's what the collaboration was all about," she says.

Confetti 2000 is a national community-building project produced and directed by Turning Wheel Productions in 12 cities across the country.

Role reversal — Confetti 2000 ended last Saturday with a performance that had audience members sit on stage while actors such as Georgia Rose Park performed in the seating area and balcony.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fraud, Nigerian style

It's spring, the time when scams pop up with the frequency of crocuses.

At least, that's been the pattern for several years now, say police, who warn residents to beware of groups promising riches, or claiming to be raising money for local police, fire or veterans groups.

"Every year at this time we get that stuff," says Detective Jim Haggerty. "It's that time of year, and apparently those letters are circulating again."

Two weeks ago, a soliciting group called some residents, claiming to be raising money for local firefighters. They had no connection to Andover firefighters.

Also this month, another familiar scam returned — with a new twist. The apparent scam involves an "urgent" and "strictly confidential" letter sent by a group of Nigerians who say they need a trustworthy American businessperson's help to get money out of the country.

Last year, the writers said they were government officials trying to keep money from a corrupt official. Now, they say they work for the "Nigerian National Petroleum Corp.," and have $22.5 million from "overinvoicing of some supplies and engineering [sic] works contracts."

The letter promises business people 25 percent of the funds if they supply helpful information, including their bank account numbers. But police believe that the letter writers will use the information to transfer money out of the American account, rather than into it.

— Neil Fater

Time for outdoor track

The Andover High School field house's walking track is closed to the public until November. The track is closed during the warmer months when people can more readily exercise outdoors, says the athletic department.

In memory of martyrs

Merrimack Valley Armenians will gather in Andover next Sunday to recognize the 85th anniversary of Armenian Martyrs' Day.

The public is invited to the commemorative event, planned for Sunday, April 30, at 3 p.m. at West Middle School Auditorium, on Shawsheen Road.

Off to see the Wizard

The American Family Theater of Philadelphia will present The Wizard of Oz at the Collins Center May 14 at 4 p.m., to celebrate Kaleidoscope's 20th summer season.

Tickets are $12 and all proceeds will benefit Kaleidoscope's scholarship fund.

Kaleidoscope is a local non-profit enrichment program that has offered hundreds of courses to children throughout the Merrimack Valley. Program director and founder Janis Baron hopes many former and future "Kaleidoscopers" will enjoy this show.

Tickets may be obtained by calling 475-1422; writing Kaleidoscope, Box 506, Andover 01810; or visiting The Learning Express at 32 Park St.

Web question

Last week's question on the Townsmen's Web page was: Should sidewalks for the neighborhood of the proposed schools be part of an override?

The relatively thin online response as of early Wednesday was in favor of using an override to pay for the school neighborhood's sidewalks by a vote of 12-10.

This week's question is: Would you be more or less likely to attend Town Meeting if the town had two town meetings per year, but fewer articles at each of the meetings?

Surf to www.andovertownsmen.com and cast your vote.

A couple of special people

Beverly and David Birnbach were named Couple of the Year by Chabad Lubavitch, a Jewish congregation at 310 North Main St.

"They do a lot of work for the Chabad. They encourage a lot of people to come, and they have tireless energy," says Joanne Jawitz, a Chabad member.

Beverly Birnbach teaches Hebrew school for Chabad, is on the Board of the Jewish Federation, and runs a business from home.

David Birnbach is a former School Committee member, and technology guru, she says. Both were honored at Chabad Lubavitch's Founders Dinner earlier this month.

"She's the type of person who makes the world go 'round," lauds Jawitz. "He's an inno-vater. They've done an incredible amount of work bringing in young couples."

Keeping it real

When Andover Youth Services asked people to nominate outstanding Andover females, it never guessed what it was in for. AYS received enough submissions to literally fill a book.

So it produced that book, and honored the nominees April 12 with a special night.

According to Bill Fahey and Glenn Wilson, the nominations were handed to them, mailed to them, slipped under their office door, even left under their cars' windshield wipers.

Flower power — Erin Daly was among those saluted by Andover Youth Services.

FinCom says no

Buy land now, plan use later?

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski recommends that the town buy downtown land adjacent to the town yard, whether they use it to expand the yard or not.

Town Meeting approval of Article 29 would appropriate $1 million for the town to buy three small properties next to the town yard on Pearson Street behind the public safety center.

ARTICLE 29

"They key here is that we have an opportunity to acquire land and these properties in a friendly manner," Stapczynski says.

The town is considering several options in expanding or moving the town yard, where Andover keeps its salt, sand and other road equipment, but Stapczynski recommends the town buy the properties now, when all three land owners have approached the town about selling.

The article would approve purchase of one parcel on Lewis Street and two parcels on Buxton Court.

Finance Committee recommends disapproval of the article, citing a high price for small parcels, and lack of a definitive plan for the town yard.

More traffic? More plans needed, says Ballardvale group

Proponents of the Ballardvale Master Plan, Article 81, have reduced the article in scope and in budget in hopes it will be approved at Town Meeting.

Ballardvale resident Chris Huntress, a planner by trade, says the article has been modified since it was printed in the warrant.

Proposed at $100,000, the plan was recommended for approval by selectmen.

But if the budget is reduced to $40,000, the article will have the approval of selectmen, Planning Board members and the Finance Committee, Huntress says.

Huntress says he is "fairly confident" that the project could be done for $40,000, because he has discovered some of the proposed research has already been done. He also plans to reduce the scope of the project by eliminating efforts to change current zoning bylaws.

The focus of the Ballardvale Master Plan, he says, will be to plan for expected changes to the neighborhood that will occur as a result of current zoning bylaws.

One report Huntress plans to incorporate is the Town-wide Master Plan, adopted in 1992.

"We're not going to plan independently of the town's Master Plan. But how it will effect the studies, it's hard to say at this point," he says.

He says the goal is to document traffic volumes and work within existing zoning laws to regulate traffic flow through the neighborhood, and make the area more pedestrian friendly.

Ballardvale blues — Trains and traffic.

He also plans to research the maximum capacity of development for the adjacent industrial area, so Ballardvale is prepared for its effects.

"I don't think it's realistic to say we're going to stop growth in Lowell Junction, but we can certainly plan for it," he says.

Ballardvale was built in the late 1800s to house mill workers of the Marland Mills. In anticipation of Interstates 93 and 495 and Route 125, Andover planners zoned the area next to Ballardvale, known as the Lowell Junction Road area, as an industrial area that could be served by highways.

Development in the industrial area has led to increased traffic through Ballardvale, which residents say is losing its rural, residential quality.

Officials take crack at sidewalks

By Rebecca Lipchitz

A January moratorium on sidewalk construction until a prioritized plan is in place turned out to be all talk from selectmen, who are endorsing some of the public and private sidewalk projects coming to Town Meeting.

There will be several sidewalk articles this year.

The town sponsors Article 10, sidewalks near the proposed new schools for $600,000 and Article 66, a sidewalk restoration program, also at $600,000.

Citizens have proposed sidewalk projects for Woburn Street at $200,000 (Article 67); High Plain Road near West Elementary School at $130,000 (Article 68); High Street for $275,000 (Article 69); Chestnut Street for $300,000 (Article 70).

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski knows where he wants to draw the lines on which sidewalks are priority.

Anything within half a mile of a school is first priority, he says. Article 66, a sidewalk restoration plan, should also be a priority because it was part of an older plan that is already under way, Stapczynski says.

The result of Stapczynski's recommendations are endorsements from selectmen for articles 10, 66, 68 and 70, and disapproval of Article 67, Woburn Street sidewalks.

Article 10 is for sidewalks near the proposed new schools, and Article 68 is for sidewalks on High Plain Road near West Elementary School.

Article 66 is part of an ongoing plan, and Article 70, for sidewalks on Chestnut Street, is part of a plan that was studied on approval of Town Meeting voters two years ago, Stapczynski says.

The plan for a sidewalk on a particularly curvy, treed section of Chestnut Street has been carefully done, Stapczynski says.

"Selectmen felt they couldn't disapprove this after all the work that was done in the past."

Selectmen did not take a position on the High Street sidewalk project (Article 69), voting 2-2.

The vote was not an indication that the town does not want a sidewalk there, Stapczynski says, but that now is not the time to pay for it.

"Perhaps its a timing issue, and this is a difficult one," he says, citing a steep slope and other topographical issues with that plan.

Selectmen disapproved of the Woburn Street sidewalk project because it is not within a half-mile of the nearest school (South School), and therefore not a priority this year, he says.

Parking search comes back around

Planners and selectmen say its time to take Andover's parking issues to the next level, but finance committee members disagree.

Article 79 at Town Meeting would allow the town to spend $30,000 to study the best place to put a parking garage downtown, and design related plans.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski says the effort is a "continuation" of a study of parking needs downtown, which began 15 years ago.

"We want to take this information a step further," Stapczynski says.

The project would identify the best place to put a garage downtown, such as at the parking lot next to Olde Andover Village, in the parking lot at Park Street Village, in front of Pasta Villagio, or by the MBTA station.

Stapczynski says the town may also consider private land if it were available.

Schools needed

You've heard the horror stories. Andover schools need more classroom space.

The last round of construction, approved in 1994, added to the elementary- and high-school levels, but left the crowded middle schools alone. Even when the South Elementary expansion project was finished, South was forced to use "art on a cart" because it needed its art room for regular classes.

But some people may still fear that this year's construction could turn into another Andover High. Fortunately, residents can expect a different result from the proposed $31.9 million schools project than they got from the town in 1994.

Taxpayers can expect this new project to be different because:

- it will take care of overcrowding at all levels for at least 10 years, the amount of time for which population estimates are useful, pledges School Committee member Eric Nadworny;
- workers will be building new schools, rather than renovating occupied, older buildings;
- the project was delayed a year to answer detractors' questions and to avoid any rushed designs; and
- the project manager is working out of the plant and facilities department, rather than a Boston office.

...so is restraint

While Andover needs the new schools — and can feel some confidence the job will be handled properly — voters must be aware of what else is coming.

This year, the school department increased its $36.9 million budget more than 7 percent and called it "bare bones." When the new schools come on line, residents can expect even larger increases.

Realizing the implications, the Finance Committee has opposed even some small new additions to the town budget this year. Members warn that the town can only handle so much debt and budget growth.

"Basically, we've been looking ahead a few years, to the opening of the new schools, and we clearly have some financial problems to deal with," says Joanne Marden.

But the problems are not beyond the average voter's control — or, more accurately, self control.

Residents concerned about taxes must attend Town Meeting, and then carefully weigh requests, including the more than $2 million being sought for various sidewalk construction jobs.

If Andover continues to expand services and fund new projects without careful consideration, it will face a financial squeeze tighter than the physical crunch of its overcrowded classrooms.

A red flag — While many parents consider this week, school vacation week, to be a time devoted to children, The Children's Place at Phillips Academy celebrated "The Week of the Young Child" last week. On Friday morning, children, including Devon Heavey (center) held a parade, carrying flags to represent each of the child-care and preschool facility's seven classrooms. Children's Place says the week "emphasizes the importance and uniqueness of young children as they grow and develop."

League throws its support behind articles

Editor, Townsmen:

After membership study/discussion, and board members' approval, the League of Women Voters of Andover/North Andover has taken the following positions on articles in the upcoming Andover Town Meeting warrant:

Article 9: We support the appropriation of $31.9 million for the school building project. The new schools are needed to relieve the over-crowding affecting all elementary and middle schools in Andover, to provide sufficient space for educational programming and to do so with minimal disruption to students and programs.

There is no guarantee of future state funding at the current 60% level available through June 1.

Article 11: We support the sewer easement/AVIS land article and suggest it be moved as a transfer of land to AVIS, rather than as an easement. It makes sense that the land, currently used and maintained by AVIS as part of the path through Baker's Meadow behind Andover High School, become permanently part of the adjacent AVIS property.

Articles 14 and 16: We are pleased to see the general-housekeeping issues and the revolving accounts presented as consent agendas. The use of consent agendas was one of the recommendations to improve Town Meeting the LWV made as a result of our study last fall.

Article 32: We support the conservation fund appropriation, which will bring the fund to a level more in line with recent land value appreciation. Timing is important since there are very few remaining large undeveloped lots left in town, and purchases need to be made quickly when property is offered for sale. Having a more fully funded fund will allow for quick and timely offers and acquisitions.

Article 61: We support the Street Acceptance General Bylaw article, which will allow street acceptances to be presented as consent agendas at future Town Meetings. Consent agendas streamline Town Meeting while still allowing for discussion and questions by anyone who wishes.

Article 77: We support the Hazardous Waste Recycling Intermunicipal Agreement because it provides for regional cooperation in the proper and regular disposal of household hazardous wastes. A nearby facility that's open regularly will result in greater recycling of hazardous materials by households.

Article 81: We support the $40,000 portion of the Ballardvale Community Master Plan request that is for the development of a plan. We do not support the $60,000 portion for interventions. Any actual improvements should be considered within the framework and priorities of the townwide Capital Improvement Plan.

We will see you at Town Meeting on Monday, April 24 at 7 p.m. at the Andover High School field house.

Save where the wild things are, at Rec Park

Editor, Townsmen:

Next week, voters will be asked to appropriate $1.1 million to allow the construction of new playing fields at the old Essex Sand and Gravel Pit.

In the long term, the development of the Essex Gravel Pit will prove to be a costly error. As it is today, abandoned for over thirty years, this former conservation land is an integral part of a complex wetlands ecosystem, unrivaled in its expanse and biodiversity.

When confronting development projects such as this, we too often look only at the acreage to be built upon and rarely at the projects effects on the surrounding environment. It is important to look at the surrounding environment in all cases but particularly in this instance. The Essex Gravel Pit and its immediately adjacent areas are a unique and vital system of marshes, fields, woodlands, and bogs — home to river otter and bittern, harriers and red fox, the nesting grounds of turtles and killdeer. Are these wildlands to recover from decades of misuse, only to be misused again?

Proper management of the Essex Gravel Pit should not include parking lots and access roads, but rather passive assistance to nature's efforts to rejuvenate itself. If mechanized vehicles were effectively banned from the old Essex Gravel Pit, the pit would quickly revert to fields, and within five years be successfully colonized by young white pines and birches. A proactive plan would include programs designed to encourage this process and to reintroduce species formerly abundant in Andover.

On a larger environmental scale, Andover is down to the wire. This town cannot continue to grow forever, and there is no sense in exploiting every last natural resource in an effort to do so.

In the interest of Andover's waning wildlife and our all-but-vanished wildlands, please vote against Article 28.

Oppose Nickel Hill

Editor, Townsmen:

Article 72 authorizes the town to spend $145,000 to continue vigorous participation in the legal and permitting proceedings regarding the 750-megawatt, natural-gas-fired power plant being proposed by Nickel Hill in Dracut, less than one mile from the Andover border. This funding is the only means by which Andover can continue its meaningful role in the critical proceedings that will take place in the next 6 to 12 months, the outcome of which will affect our community for decades to come.

Andover's participation to date, along with the MVRE and other concerned constituencies, has resulted in a number of successes with respect to the initial proceedings regarding this proposal, the

Another great passes quietly

Editor, Townsmen:

We buried Jim Ruxton last Saturday. It was a beautiful Andover Spring morning for the short ceremony which was attended by his family, friends and some local veterans. Jim's passing was not reported by the Boston Globe or New York Times because Jim didn't own a dot-com company and never had an IPO.

Jim was 92 and retired as an Andover school custodian, mostly at the Shawsheen School.

He wasn't tall and was quite slender and few who knew him ever suspected that this humble, self-effacing, kindly man survived four years of heavy combat all across the Pacific including a horrific suicidal bayonet charge by the enemy in the Philippines. Jim earned a slew of medals for his service and was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in action but he never talked about it because he was not one to talk about his own experiences.

What you need to know is that Jim never had to go to war in the first place. He was born in Scotland and came to love his adopted country with a pride few men or women ever matched.

In 1941 he knew in his heart that his beloved country would surely be involved in war so he enlisted in the Army, eight months before Pearl Harbor, at age 33. Army basic training in 1941 was rigorous and grueling for an 18 year old, let alone a 33 year old, but Jim made it through and joined the Combat Engineers.

Jim soldiered on through wrenching battles, stifling heat, tropical diseases and an implacable and cruel enemy.

When it was all over Jim came home, got a job, and went on with his life and that of his country. He never married but was devoted to his sisters, niece, grand-nieces and nephews and his special friend — his great grand niece.

Jim Ruxton was the heart and soul of this country like so many millions who were there when it counted most in the dark early days of World War II when the outcome was greatly in doubt.

We are losing this "greatest generation," as Tom Brokaw so rightly named them, at a rate of 350,000 a year nationally. We owe these folks a debt we can never fully repay and we can only hope that if the time ever comes when we need them, a new generation of Jim Ruxtons will step forward. So as Memorial Day approaches, have a kind thought in your heart for James Ruxton, Jr.

John C. Doherty

most notable being that the Executive Office of Environmental Affairs recently rejected Nickel Hill's Final Environmental Impact Report as failing to address critical air and noise issues.

The Nickel Hill plant, as currently proposed, is not as safe, clean, or quiet as it can and should be. Yet while the technologies are readily available to make it so, Nickel Hill refuses to consider them for one reason — namely, cost.

Nickel Hill touts this plant as "cleaner" than coal- or oil-burning plants, as well as incinerators. Certainly this is true. However, to then conclude by this comparison that its effects are insignificant is nothing short of ridiculous. Two million pounds of annual air pollution is hardly insignificant.

The state agencies tell us they will "do the right thing" regarding this massive proposal. The state Department of Public Health is demanding cumulative air modeling and monitoring stations to address basic public-health questions about this facility. Yet these efforts, the result of interventions by Andover, the MVRE and others, may not be enough to ensure we preserve our health and environment. This plant does not belong in the pollution-saturated Merrimack Valley, where troubling health statistics are just beginning to be addressed with studies. Andover needs this funding to apply legal means, if necessary, to stop this proposal, or short of that, to ensure only the best technologies are used regardless of cost.

Given these concerns, the selectmen, Finance Committee, and Board of Health voted unanimously to support this article. We urge all Andover residents to do so as well.

Fight the power plant II

Editor, Townsmen:

If built, the Dracut Power Plant would emit approximately two million pounds of pollutants per year into the Andover airshed and over the Andover watershed. It would be the largest emitter of carbon monoxide in the Merrimack Valley.

These pollutants exacerbate respiratory disease and contribute to the development of smog and acid rain.

The plant would truck 20,000 to 30,000 gallons per week of aqueous ammonia up Route 93 through Andover.

These are the facts. No sensationalism is needed as the facts are sensationally daunting by themselves.

Andover is seeking to question the impact such a plant would have on the safety and health of residents. Selectmen have voted unanimously to support warrant Article 72, which would appropriate $145,000 for legal, technical and engineering support to continue this process.

Come to Town Meeting and vote yes on Article 72. It may be the most important vote you cast to protect the quality of life in our community.

We need playing fields, at Rec Park

Editor, Townsmen:

There's treasure hidden just off Abbot Street, waiting to be discovered at Town Meeting. Article 28 will transform the old Essex Gravel Pit into a magnificent town recreational resource. It's the rare project that offers so dramatic a change to the community landscape and character for so little cost. The project's extension of the existing Rec Park entrance road will provide access to new parking and a large grassy area for sports fields. New walkways will enable enjoyment of the natural wetlands beauty and wildlife. Lush green will replace weed and litter-strewn sand. Walkers and bicyclists will replace motocross and ATVs. The occasional police patrol will replace late night beer parties.

Andover youth sports ran out of space a long time ago. Many families spend their precious Saturdays on windblown dirt or mud fields at Bancroft School, Deyermund Field, Doherty/Stow, Upper Shawsheen, Bowling Green, and South School. The town facilities department and youth sports organizations spend significant money each season in reseeding and sodding. It's a losing battle. If we had the field inventory to rotate fields as many communities do, Mother Nature could take care of most of the repair.

Four additional full-size fields are needed by youth soccer alone to reduce some of its dependency on private-school generosity, and to allow rest for the overused town fields. Article 28 will provide space for 3 full-size, multi-use fields — one kept idle each season for regrowth, and two to be shared by youth soccer, football, T-ball and lacrosse. The new schools will add an additional rectangular field. Even with the approval of Articles 28 and 9, we will not have the total number of fields needed.

I encourage all to vote for Article 28 to open little-used Rec Park to the community at large. During its 15-year financing period, the peak budget impact of Article 28 will be $9 added to the average tax bill in FY 2002. The unveiling of this beautiful, unique recreational area will be well worth the project's modest cost, paying dividends in lasting community enjoyment and pride, and increased residential property values.

exists and is about to increase dramatically.

In order to exit our streets — which in the case of Cassimere and Beech Circle are blind corners — we are forced to play a nerve-wracking game of chicken. Each of us plans our day around the commuter rush hours. We also know we cannot get out when school is going in or coming out. These days, we have to contend with a constant stream of traffic in both directions and at an ever-increasing rate of speed. Many of our residents are elderly or families with very young children, and at the risk of sounding melodramatic, it is only a matter of time before a serious accident occurs.

The Planning Board has recently approved the Powder Mill Square luxury condominium and medical office complex to be developed at the corner of North Main and Stevens Streets, across from the Andover post office. Plans are currently before the Board for an extension to Cassimere Street. As soon as construction begins on the Powder Mill development — and on the Cassimere extension if approved — construction equipment, service vehicles, delivery trucks, ultimately commuters, and all traveling to and from Route 93, will go by way of — you guessed it — Stevens Street!

Many of us have attended multiple hearings on these proposed developments. In the past we raised the issue of traffic when the post office was built. We protested the impact of traffic on Stevens Street when Marland Place was developed. We have repeatedly attempted to bring traffic issues to the attention of the Planning Board but, aside from an occasional pat on the head, we have been ignored. Anyone who frequents the Andover post office knows the hazards of the bottleneck at the Shawsheen River bridge and the dangers of travel on Stevens Street.

You will note Article 62 coming before the April Town Meeting, where the Powder Mill developer has so generously offered strips of land to widen Stevens Street on the post-office side of the bridge. Town Meeting members, please don't let this article pass until someone from the town acknowledges the conditions that exist on our westward side of the bridge. So far, all town officials seem to have their corporate heads wedged firmly in the sand.

THE POWER OF MOLECULAR IMAGING

Positron Emission Tomography (P.E.T.) is an advanced, non-invasive medical test that has been proven to be of great benefit in the diagnosis and management of many types of cancer, as well as certain conditions of the brain and the heart.

Now, for the first time in New England, this important and valuable diagnostic technology is available in a community hospital setting - on the campus of Holy Family Hospital in Methuen, MA.

P.E.T. imaging is unique because it produces images of the body's metabolism and function, rather than only the anatomy revealed by CAT scans, MRI's, or x-rays. P.E.T. imaging often identifies tumors and abnormalities that can go undetected by other imaging methods.

To learn more about P.E.T. imaging ask your physician, or visit the website of the Institute for Clinical PET at www.petscan.org.

School says it's time for some space

By Rebecca Lipchitz

Becky Agostino, a fifth-grader at the Bancroft School and president of the 85-member student council, is well-versed in the Bancroft clap.

To applaud at Bancroft, where there are no walls between classrooms, students tap the ends of their fingers together.

Agostino says the lack of space in school is affecting students.

"It's extremely tight, and noisy. It would be better if it were quieter," she says.

In many ways, the space crunch at Bancroft School is typical of Andover elementary schools this year. But its open space concept makes it unique, and audibly magnifies the effects of over crowding.

Built in 1969, Bancroft was the last school building Andover built.

The open-classroom concept that might have worked well with small classes makes the space crunch more noisy and more difficult for learning today, teachers and administrators say.

Voters will be asked at Annual Town Meeting next week to approve $31.9 million to build two new schools to alleviate over crowding (See page 15.)

Bancroft teachers do what they can to keep class noise to themselves, as much as one can in an elementary school.

Some teachers who have classes near each other try to plan simultaneous testing to make the most of quiet time.

Last year, as a fourth-grader, Agostino enjoyed the peace and quiet of her modular classroom outside the school building, but spent time going back and forth from the modulars into the school building four or five times a day for activities such as assemblies gym, art, media, music, and lunch.

More space for students would also mean a wider variety of activities, she says.

teaches at several schools in Andover, says none of her classes in stringed instrument instruction, except the ones held at the High School in the evening, are held in classrooms.

Trying to get students to focus on fingering or intonation is not easy with another class of students parading by, Diehl says.

"Some days, it becomes unworkable," she says.

Physical Education teacher Dick Valley says scheduling classes in the gym, which is also the cafeteria and the auditorium, often requires a change in curriculum, especially when spaces are shared.

Carolyn Lazzarino has taught at Bancroft for 13 years, and since she can remember, the school has been operating over maximum capacity.

The school was built to hold a maximum of 475 students. This year, enrollment is 617, says Assistant Principal Brenda O'Brien.

Last year, Lazzarino managed to get a shared space between her class and another class on her side of the building.

They used the space for art projects, computer lab projects, and other "hands-on" activities that many classes cannot otherwise participate in, she says.

"It was heaven. I can see how it would definitely work out," she says.

The largest class at Bancroft this year is 26 students, says Principal Norah McCarthy.

Many kindergarten classes have 17 or 18 students, she says.

The one "buffer space" in the school last year, which holds a classroom this year, was highly used, says McCarthy.

"We have to do a pretty smooth shuffle," says the principal, whose day is consumed with scheduling space, especially during MCAS time when students need quiet for taking tests.

Some students were tested in the teachers' room last week, giving Superintendent of Schools Dr. Claudia Bach no place to go when she came in to give a presentation to teachers, McCarthy says.

Next year, most of the building will have to be moved around to make room for one more classroom of children.

McCarthy says she is not looking forward to asking teachers to pack up all of their treasures.

As she gestures to an open space off the hallway, filled with small tables and small chairs, McCarthy notes the close proximity to the nearby open space of another classroom.

"Three or four kids do make a difference," she says.

Officials want new schools to soften the space crunch

By Rebecca Lipchitz

West Middle School has managed the space crunch like many other schools in Andover.

According to a letter from Principal Vicki Simms sent to parents, this year, students are not allowed to carry their backpacks from class to class to save space in the hallways; four teachers have no classroom and use class time to set up and pack up their instructional materials; the media specialists work with three classes at a time, and the nursing staff is responsible for looking after 680 students.

Within the next two years, they expect not only to run out of lockers, but run out of wall space to install more lockers, she says.

They also expect to add lunch periods, making some lunch times as early as 10:30 a.m.

While every school is working to make the most of their space, issues such as class sizes and professional-planning time cannot be addressed because space issues are the priority for most schools, Simms says.

"We cannot, however, ignore the fact that the once gradual change has now reached significant proportions," Simms says.

Andover seeks approval to build two new schools to alleviate overcrowding in Andover's elementary and middle schools. The project would include a middle school and an elementary school on one campus at Cross Street and High Plain Road in West Andover.

For the project to pass, voters at Town Meeting must approve articles 9, 11 and 12, and a debt-exclusion vote May 23.

Article 9 would allow the town to appropriate $31.9 million for construction of the schools, the sewer line and sidewalks on the school site. Sixty percent of the cost would be reimbursed by the state, ultimately costing Andover $12.6 million. The money would not be appropriated unless voters also approve a debt exclusion vote on May 23.

Architectural rendering

Tree lined — The school will be set back from the roadway to give neighbors more privacy.

Article 11 would allow the Town to swap with the AVIS conservation agency a piece of conservation land near the site of the proposed school project for another strip of land near Andover High School. The sewer line for the new school would run through what is now a piece of AVIS conservation land.

Article 12 confirms the town's ownership of the land at Cross Street and High Plain Road where the new schools would be built.

The schools project would include an elementary school for 564 students and a middle school for 450 students.

The schools are designed to hold an equal number of classes per grade, to ensure that a student who enters the school in kindergarten will be able to attend the same school until leaving in fifth or eighth grade.

School Committee member Eric Nad-worn says officials can estimate projected enrollments for the next 10 years.

Construction of two new schools would allow every Andover school building to be used as it was intended, with rooms dedicated to art, music, and other programs, some of which are now forced into hallways and closet space.

While some residents were surprised when recent renovations to South and Sanborn elementary schools did not put a stop to "art on a cart," they can expect more from this proposed project, Nadworn says.

While the new schools are expected to be 95-percent full when they open in 2002, they will allow Andover schools to operate within capacity for the next 10 years, Nadworn says.

School Building Committee Chairman Mark Johnson says expected changes in state law could mean the project would not be reimbursed by the state if it is not approved by voters this year.

But if voters approve the project at Annual Town Meeting and in the debt exclusion override vote May 23, the project is guaranteed to be reviewed for reimbursement by the state, Johnson says.

Laws recently passed changing the state School Building Assistance program makes projects that have not had a space-needs conference with the state by Jan. 1, 2000, and been submitted by June 1, ineligible for the next round of state reimbursement.

Further anticipated changes to the laws could mean state reimbursement policies will change for future projects, Johnson says.

Sidewalks, sewers part of plan

If the new schools project is approved, the town will also seek to build sidewalks in the surrounding neighborhood and allow residents in the area to connect to the new sewer line running to the school.

Article 10 would appropriate $600,000 for sidewalks in West Andover on streets connecting to the new schools site. Other public and privately sponsored sidewalk articles are included on the warrant this year.

Funds for Article 10 would be approved only if passed by voters in a debt exclusion override vote separate from the schools vote, on May 23.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski says he supports the article in spite of other sidewalk requests this year, because sidewalks within a half-mile of schools should be Andover's first priority.

Article 13 would appropriate $3.4 million to connect residents of West Andover in the Forest Hill Drive and Cross Street neighborhood to the new sewer line that would be brought to the area to serve the new schools.

The sewers would be paid over 20 years, with two-thirds of the cost paid by abutters in betterment charges, and one-third paid by current sewer users through fees.

Residents on the following streets would be eligible: Launching Road, and Mercury, Apollo and Gemini circles, Forest Hill Drive, Aspen Circle, Bittersweet Lane; Wintergreen, Deerbury and Brierwood circles; Sandalwood Lane, Pepperidge Circle; Alpine Drive; Sugarbush Lane; Brady Loop; Monahan Lane; Cross Street and Mulberry Circle.

If Article 9 fails, articles 10 and 13 would be withdrawn.

Controversy denied: Plans afoot to withdraw five articles

Newsracks bylaw to be withdrawn, say selectman

A proposed bylaw to regulate newsracks that reside on downtown street corners could be yesterday's news by Annual Town Meeting.

Officials say they plan to withdraw Article 78, the newsracks by-law.

Attorney Peter Caruso, representing the Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co., says the law is unconstitutional.

The article would allow the government to restrict placement of the metal boxes that dispense paid newspapers and the bright plastic bins that hold free publications.

The bylaw would have given the government the right to remove a box if it was empty for 48 hours.

Message: Leave town bylaw to town

Article 84, a proposed change to make town zoning bylaws governing the Flood Hazard District concur with related federal regulations, is expected to be withdrawn on the floor of Town Meeting by its petitioner, Andover attorney Robert Lavoie.

Lavoie represents Northpoint Realty, Inc., developers of Powder Mill Square, a Stevens Street project in the flood district by the Shawsheen River.

Lavoie wrote the article, but now says he'll withdraw it, after consulting with the members of the Department of Planning and Community Development.

"There seems to be growing consensus that a rewriting of this magnitude really should be a town-sponsored process, and would be best handled in the context of general review and update of Andover's Zoning Bylaw that has been under consideration for some time," Lavoie said in a letter to selectmen. The discrepancy between Andover's local by-law and federal regulations surfaced as Planning Board members considered approving the proposed Powder Mill Square project.

—Rebecca Lipchitz

Sewer pay changes flushed

Selectmen expect to withdraw articles 23, 24 and 25, which would change the way people would pay for the large sewer projects approved last year.

Although Public Works Director Jack Petkus believes it would be more fair to charge the same amount to everyone with a single-lot home, because residents approved the projects last year with estimated betterments in hand, many were outraged to learn the town was considering changing the plan.

Selectman Brian Major has said that future projects, including those to be addressed at this town meeting, could opt to use the uniform-unit method favored by Petkus.

There are several other sewer articles on the warrant, including one to remove Gould Road from the projects approved last year. Selectmen voted to recommend that article after a Gould Road resident told them that every registered voter on his street is against the added expense.

44 conditions attached

Planning Board gives OK to move ahead on Powder Mill

By Rebecca Lipchitz

While the fate of the Powder Mill Square project has yet to be determined, several Town Meeting articles relate to the proposed apartment complex/clinic and medical-office building.

The complex would be built on North Main Street on the banks of the Shawsheen River, across from the Stevens Street Post Office.

Town Meeting articles 62, 63 and 64 would be required by planners if the project were to be built (see sidebar).

Planning Board members unanimously approved the proposed Powder Mill Square project with 44 conditions, the specifics of which will be finalized next week.

According to developer Lou Minicucci, the project has obtained all necessary permits from Andover boards, and is awaiting a decision on an appeal to the Department of Environmental Protection.

Residents adjacent to the site say the building would be built in the floodplain of the Shawsheen River, and cause more flooding on their proper-

Town Meeting may have effect on Powder project

The proposed Powder Mill Square project, a combination apartment/medical office building and clinic, spawned several articles before Annual Town Meeting this year.

Article 62 is a land donation from property owner Bert Paley to Andover to widen a short stretch Stevens Street between the intersection of North Main Street and Stevens Street, past the Post Office up to the bridge at the Shawsheen River.

Widening the road would create a left-turn lane into the Post Office, allowing drivers heading toward Shawsheen Road to continue past.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski says if the article passes, the donation will be taken by the town, regardless of whether Powder Mill Square is ever built. If Powder Mill Square is constructed, developers would pay to widen the street, Stapczynski says.

If the project does not go through the town may consider widening the road with its own resources, Stapczynski says, adding that it's such a small strip of land, the project would not be very complicated.

Articles 63 and 64 both do the same thing in different ways, says Attorney Bob Lavoie of Devine, Milliment & Branch in Andover, who represents Powder Mill Square developers.

Conservation Commission approval of the project includes a requirement that developers offer permanent rights to the town to store flood water on the property.

Article 63 would grant permission by an easement, and Article 64 would grant permission by a conservation restriction.

Lavoie says passage of the two articles will allow the town to choose the method recommended by state officials, who have not yet ruled on which method is legally required.

Article 84, a proposal to bring Andover Zoning regulations around flood hazard districts, in line with federal regulations, is expected to be withdrawn. (See story, page 15.)

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D., F.A.G.D.

BEATING GUM DISEASE

The primary culprit of gum disease is the sticky film, called bacterial plaque, that continuously envelops the teeth. It should be removed every day with conscientious brushing and flossing. Otherwise, within two days, it hardens into a substance known as calculus (or tartar). A professional cleaning at least twice a year is necessary to remove tartar from the places brushing or flossing might have missed. If left untreated, tartar can lead to tooth loss, which occurs if bacteria are allowed into the pocket surrounding the teeth. Not only does this cause an inflammatory response in the gums, but also in the ligaments and bones that hold teeth in place. Regular professional cleanings can prevent this unnecessary occurrence.

There is no magic to avoiding gum disease and achieving optimal dental hygiene success. Almost everyone can do it with a modest amount of time invested daily. Keep up with home dental care as well as periodic cleanings and checkups. Your teeth and gums are depending on you. For full-service dental care for all members of your family, please call us at 475-2431. Our office is located at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt. 93.

More fields, rec for Rec Park?

For many parents and players who have been crying for more playing-field space, a plan to build three new fields in the little-used gravel pit at Recreation Park seems like a home run.

However, not everyone is thrilled about the idea. The Finance Committee has voted to recommend disapproval of the $1.1 million article.

28

"The primary reason that we have (for opposing it) this year is not being sure that we can afford to buy them right now," says Joanne Marden, FinCom member. "With so many projects looked on at this time, this is one that could at least be deferred."

The project has been pulled together by Plant and Facilities Director Joe Piantedosi, who addressed the job at public meetings on Nov. 2, Dec. 1 and Dec. 20 of last year.

After taking public input, architects designed a plan that will put three full-size fields in the gravel pit. The plan is to use only two of the fields at a time.

"The reason for doing that is so we don't put the fields under too much stress, and to minimize the (traffic) impact on the area," says Piantedosi.

The project will add a second road into the site, meaning that people may be able to drive to Rec Park off of either Abbot or Woburn street. However, Piantedosi says it's possible that the Woburn Street road would be designated one-way.

"We think that the real bottleneck will be at the ends of games, when everyone will want to leave at the same time," he says.

A 140-car parking lot will be among the additions to the upper part of Rec Park. There will be 20 spaces down by the new fields, for use by people bringing equipment to the games.

Piantedosi says the town could not use the gravel pit site for other functions, such as a town yard, because the land, which was given to the town, can only be used for recreation purposes.

A footbridge and restrooms will also be added to the site. Although some residents had suggested adding a boardwalk to Fosters Island, the project is estimated to cost $110,000, or 10 percent of the money sought. Piantedosi says that part of the job will only be added to the project if field-construction estimates come in significantly lower than expected.

ConsCom wants to bid on land

In efforts to buy land and preserve open space, being able to act quickly is the town's best asset, says Conservation Commission Chairman Bob Pustell.

"If we get into a bidding war with a developer, we'll lose every time," he says.

So Pustell and other conservationists are requesting $1.5 million from Town Meeting voters. They want to have the money available for buying conservation land when it comes on the market. But article only allows the town to appropriate the money. The funds wouldn't be spent until a sale was finalized, Pustell says.

The commission is now negotiating to buy six or eight parcels, and anticipates some large parcels coming on the market soon, he says.

Having the authority to borrow the money when the deal is made gives the town flexibility to negotiate the best prices, Pustell says.

In some cases when a land owner dies, heirs are often more interested in selling the land quickly than spending time negotiating with the town, he says.

"We have to give people a reason to sell to the town," Pustell says.

Debate on multi-project articles

Andover is seeking what could be a total of $2.5 million in building improvements and town projects through Town Meeting articles 26 and 27. But there's some debate over if and how all the projects should be funded.

The FinCom only recommends passage of Article 26 if department heads can pay more of it in the budget. So officials say they may reduce Article 26 from $1,475,000 to $1,025,000 by moving several maintenance projects into the Plant and Facilities budget. This move must be made at Town Meeting.

Article 27 asks voters to approve $1 million for six projects: library space and automated catalog upgrades, $185,000; police records and dispatch computer upgrade, $112,000; Geographic Information Systems $145,000; bridge repair and reconstruction, $400,000; a footbridge over the Shawsheen River, $18,000; and new traffic signals, $145,000.

The projects in Article 27 will be voted on in separate motions, says Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski. Finance Committee members approved Article 27 with the exception of the footbridge.

Walking for life

Editor, Townsmen:

On June 2, 3 and 4, a group of nine women will be walking in the Avon 3-day breast cancer walk. They each have their own personal reasons why they want to do it. They each have someone very dear to them whose life has been changed because of this disease. I am so proud to say that I know these women and that they are my neighbors. Though they are more than just neighbors, they are friends in the truest sense of the word.

We all know someone who has been affected by breast cancer. Our mothers, sisters, daughters, perhaps even ourselves. If ever there was an opportunity to contribute to a worthy cause, this is it. This is truly a walk for life - maybe even your own.

Each of these nine women has to raise $1,800 in order to walk. They have been in training, trying to build up the their required 20 miles a day. They are doing their part, we need to do ours. Please contribute what you can. You may be helping someone you love. Please make checks payable to: Avon 3-day, c/o Elizabeth Elowe, 17 Argilla Rd., Andover, MA 01810. Thank you.

Open up to diversity

Editor, Townsmen:

A group of students from Andover High School has organized an open forum on diversity, to be held Wednesday, April 26, at 7 p.m. at the J. Everett Collins Center.

This is a subject that is near to my heart, and one that is gaining momentum throughout our district. It is emerging as parent sponsored workshops at Sanborn, as the Open Circle program, currently at West and soon to be incorporated at South and as the Heart and Hands Against Intolerance students at the High School.

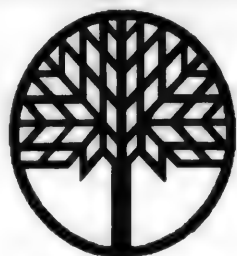

Everywhere we look, this subject is taking shape across Andover. This evening will feature a panel of students and adults, sharing their experiences and taking questions from the community.

It is, I hope, a watershed moment whereby the dialog can change from "what can we do?" to "what we can do."

I know that this is a busy week in Andover, but the students themselves are driving this program, and deserve our support. I hope that every person who can attend will attend. In this way, we can begin to change how we view each other and ourselves.

01810 meets 90210

By Rebecca Lipchitz

Andover gained another Hollywood insider this year as native Kim Daher changed from one prestigious zip code to another.

A graduate of Andover High School (class of 1995) and Emerson College, the 23-year-old actor worked as a production assistant for the final season of 90210, and has an autographed script to prove it.

After the final episode airs May 17, the script will be auctioned off to benefit meningitis victim Kayla M. St. Pierre of Lawrence.

Daher says her experience as a production assistant who had nothing but fun while working on the set was rather unusual.

Tori Spelling (left) poses with Kim Daher of Andover, who worked as a production assistant on the set of Spelling Entertainment's 90210.

While it's common for production assistants to work from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m., not everyone loves their job as much as she did.

"It's sort of a rush. I grew up watching that show," she says.

Production assistants are "the first ones in and the last ones out," she says. Her job included preparing breakfast for actors (men usually eat oatmeal and women usually eat egg whites), opening the stage, distributing scripts, answering phones, and ordering lunches.

The show is produced by Spelling Entertainment, run by television mogul Aaron Spelling.

Daher says when she was asked to drop off scripts at the Spelling manor, large doors in the wall that surround the estate would open just far enough for a guard to come out and collect the documents.

Once on the set, she gained privileged information about the cast and crew of the popular television show: Luke Perry really is a nice guy; Tori Spelling is attractive in person, and very shy; actor and mother Jenny Garth eats like a normal person; many Hollywood actors are regular people who live in regular houses; and the Spelling manor includes a private bowling alley.

Daher enjoyed her experience so much she hopes to return to the LA area and become a professional actor. She says the 90210 actors were quick to connect her with people who offered her jobs, or who knew the best acting coaches.

"I expected the actors to be snobby and stuck-up, but it was so the opposite. They were very willing to help," she says.

She also got to know many of the actors during an especially emotional time on the set, during the last few weeks of the final season of the show.

Daher was encouraged to pursue acting and enjoyed the camaraderie, but is wary of the price of fame.

"A lot of the actors get harassed in public. I'm not sure I want to have a life like that," she says.

However, she did enjoy the perks, including the wrap party in April when the show ended, held at the Sunset Room in Hollywood.

She rode in a Hummer with five other people, including cast members.

"We were living La Vida Loca," she says.

Daher aims to appear in films and television, and is interested in designing her own line of clothing.

"I'm a shop-aholic," she confesses, and blames her parents, Charles and Elizabeth Daher, for her taste for fine clothes.

They have denied all responsibility, she says, but are supportive of her efforts.

Andover Choral Society to present May concert Laudamus Te: Praise the Lord Program to feature selection of Psalm settings

The Andover Choral Society will present the concert Laudamus Dominum: Praise the Lord, on Sunday, May 7, at 3 p.m. at The First Calvary Baptist Church in North Andover.

The diverse program will include a selection of Psalm settings from different countries and musical traditions, highlighting the variety of sacred composition throughout the past millennium. The chorus will perform works by Mozart, Schutz, Purcell, and Rossi, with examples of Anglican chants, Baroque and Romantic period works, Hebrew Psalms and 20th century compositions. The chorus will be joined by two professional soloists with organ accompaniment. Tickets are $10 and are available at the door.

The Andover Choral Society is conducted by music director Allen Combs. Now in his tenth season, Combs teaches voice at Phillips Academy, as well as privately, in addition to his work as a professional tenor soloist.

The Andover Choral Society is a not-for-profit organization established 70 years ago by J. Everett Collins. The group performs several classical and seasonal concerts each year, including an annual community Messiah Sing. For more information, call 687-8225.

New exhibit at the Andover town manager's office

Karen Gehle Koch-Weser is currently exhibiting her work in the town manager's office in Andover's Town Offices, 36 Bartlet St. She is a landscape painter working in oil and pastel.

Inspired by the landscapes of Cape Ann, where she spends most of her time in the summer months, she is "developing a language that grows from knowing a certain place," a program spokesperson says. "The rocky coast of the Back Shore of Gloucester and the granite quarries of Lanesville provide most of the subject matter. Seeing the rocks in the tradition of the Chinese scholar's rocks, in which one can find the essence of nature, the forms have a power in the tension of light and dark and thrust and pull of interlocking shapes."

Koch-Weser studied with Erma Wheeler of Gloucester and Marjorie Glick at the DeCordova Museum School. In 1995 she joined a group of artists painting together at the Jewish Community Center in Newton and began to study oil painting with Israeli artist Eli Shamir. Her work has been shown at the Off-Broadway Gallery, Methuen Street, Lawrence, where she has studio space with three other Andover artists. She participated in the Essex Art Center's New Paint Art Auction last year.

Past president of the Andover Historical Society, Koch-Weser continues to be active in their activities and is editor of the AHS newsletter. She lives with her husband, Peter, at Hunters Ridge in Andover.

Riverina Road* is an Andover landscape by Karen Gehle Koch-Weser, on exhibit at the town manager's office.

Next weekend's "The Last Hurrah!" is the gala farewell performance of the Bradford College Dance Company.

Bye bye bye at Bradford

As part of its continuing Creative Arts Services, Bradford College in Haverhill will present the gala farewell performance of the Bradford College Dance Company.

Entitled "The Last Hurrah!" the concert will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 27-29 in Kemper Theatre. General admission is $10; students and seniors pay $7.

The company will present 14 new works choreographed by both Bradford faculty and students. These include three senior project pieces. "Transformations," by Tanya Miller, explores angels and demons in contemporary society through striking images of entwined bodies and powerful, aggressive movement. Deb Berube has delved into biography to create two integrated dances, "Carry" and "Solo on Self," which unfold from close connections between the performers to a climax of vigor and intensity. And Jen Martin, in the final section of her project relating art and madness, "develops a playful, quirky world that comments delightedly on creativity itself," organizers said.

Other highlights of the program include "Crossing Paths," a lively contemporary ballet set to Beethoven by faculty member Pam Smith; "As We Go On," a lyrical piece about times lost and times remembered by senior Beth Lederman; and "Raw Beauty," a high energy Latin flavored dance by junior Michelle Kennedy. The concert will close with "In Memoriam," a final work by company director Mary Lee Karlins, in which the full company performs a moving tribute to Bradford, its legacy of memories and the spirit of renewal.

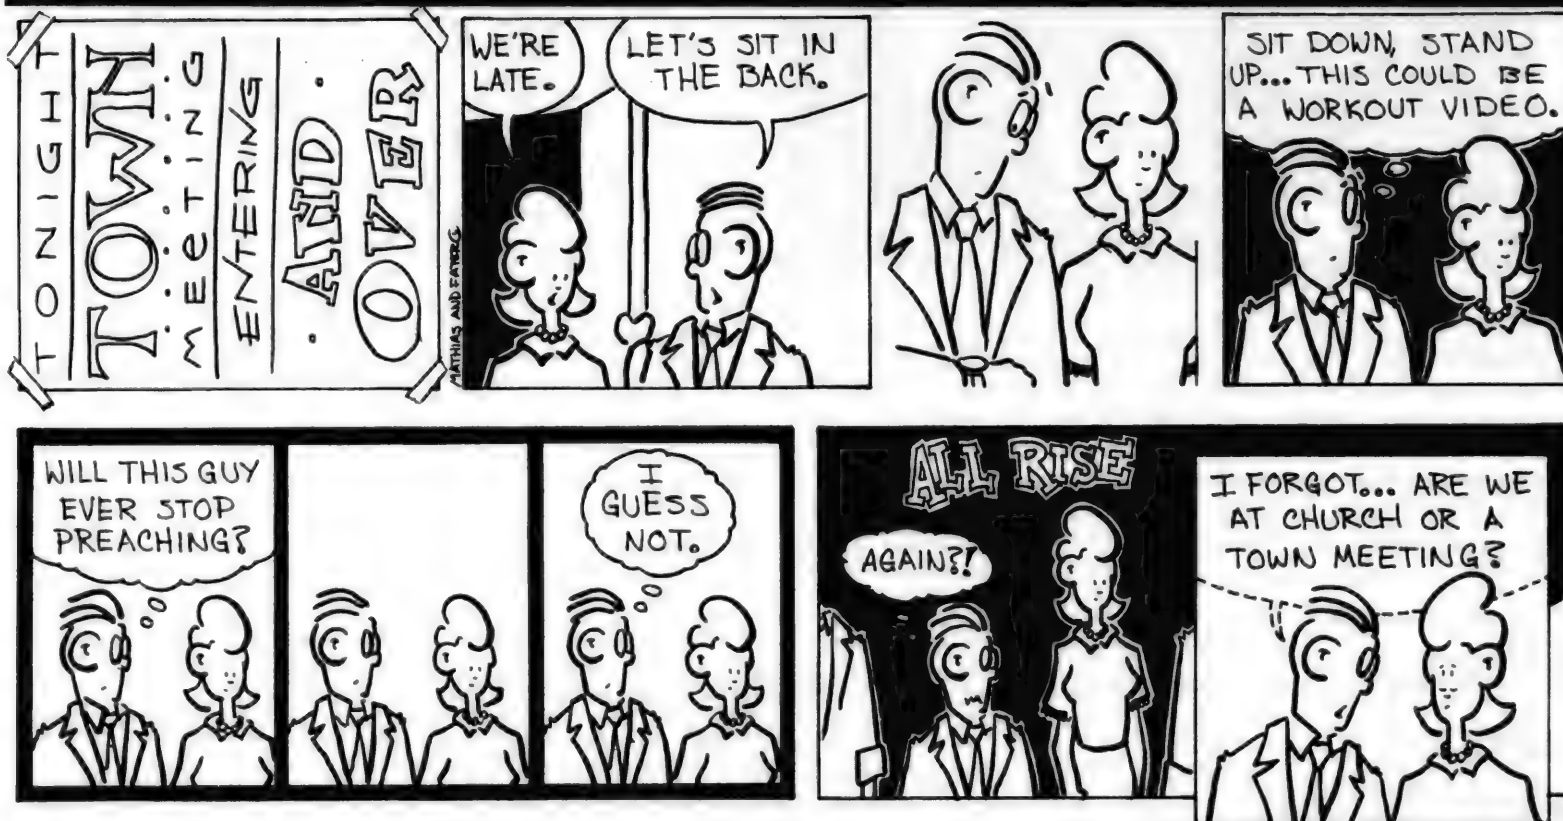

For more information or reservations, call (978) 372-0076.

Looking ahead

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will present a concert Sunday, May 7 at 2:30 p.m. at The Rogers Center for the Performing Arts, Merrimack College, 315 Turnpike St., North Andover. Conductor George Monseur will lead the orchestra in Symphony No. 5 in E Minor, Opus 64 by Tchaikovsky. Tickets are $12 for adults, $8 seniors and students, and $3 for children. Call 685-3505.

Andovers well-represented overseas

By Neil Fater

For John Deyermund, there seems to be no escaping Andover, even when he's halfway around the world.

U.S. Major-General Deyermund, an Andover native who still considers Andover his home, is currently assigned as the commanding general of the United Nations Kosovo forces in Macedonia.

Although he's quite a ways from the Bay State, however, Deyermund is still working with a trio of fellow military men from Andover.

"It is a small world and I was much surprised when arriving in my new headquarters in Macedonia my director of staff, Major Bob Coveney, informed me that we were from the same town, Andover!" Deyermund wrote to the Townsmen recently.

The difference is that Coveney is from Andover, England. Andover, England is a so-called sister city that has sent some of its dignitaries to our community in recent years.

"A short time later, while visiting one of my subordinate units in Greece, the unit's deputy commander also informed me that he was from Andover, England," continues Deyermund. "To make it even more interesting, during my first visit to our NATO headquarters in Pristina, Kosovo, the Chief of Staff, Major-General John Milne informed me that he also calls Andover, England, home."

Deyermund says that John Milne not only shares the same name as a former Andover, Mass. police officer, but shares some resemblance as well.

"Maybe we can put them in contact with each other and let them try and figure out the connection," he says.

Major General John Milne (left) of Andover, England shakes hands with U.S. Major-General John Deyermund, commanding general of the United Nations Kosovo forces in Macedonia and an Andover, Mass., native. The men are standing outside the NATO Headquarters building in the city of Pristina, Kosovo, where Major-General Milne is chief of staff.

Both Deyermund and his British friends have swapped stories about their hometowns, and Deyermund believes they have some similarities.

"One thing both Andovers have in common, I believe, after looking at ads in the newspapers and talking with our Andover, England friends is the price of new homes!" he says. "I asked the Andover, England members to pass on some information about their hometown and this is what they have included: Andover, England sits on the western edge of Hampshire in the south central region of the United Kingdom. It is tightly packed with many small places such as Middle Wallop, Upper Wallop and Nether Wallop (Ballardvale, Shawsheen, West Andover) and is within the London commuter belt about one hour to London by rail and to the south coast."

Deyermund says that all the Andoverites try to stay in touch with their hometowns by subscribing to their local newspapers. He expects that one or two may come to visit America's Andover, and that he and his wife, Barbara, another Andover High grad, may return the favor and visit England.

"By the way, the Townsmen article concerning the death of Captain George Street was of particular interest to the British forces," he says.

Here is some more of what Deyermund has to say about:

Keeping in touch

"Being stationed in the Balkans means that you do not always have the latest news available so newspapers from home - even old ones - are welcome."

"As I mentioned, with so many of our family and friends in the Andover area we try and make it a point to also review the Townsmen Web site (www.andovertownsmen.com) on the Internet to keep up with what's happening in the area. The other interesting thing is we all subscribe to the Andover newspaper by mail.

"So its not unusual to find copies of both the Andover Townsmen and the Andover Advertiser from England in the Headquarters. Andover, Mass., by the way, is a well-known location, and during my travels around the world it never ceases to amaze me how many people have first-hand knowledge of the town."

Kosovo action

"Since the end of the bombing campaign last year NATO ground forces have occupied Kosovo. Some 35,000 soldiers from 32 different nations are now conducting Peace Support Operations to maintain a secure environment, enforce compliance with the Military Technical Agreement and to support the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo. Your readers may be surprised to know that of this number approximately 5,500 U.S. military are presently deployed to this area.

"I am now assigned as Commanding General of Kosovo Forces in Macedonia. The headquarters is located just south of the Kosovo border in the city of Skopje, Macedonia and I have officers from 14 different nations assigned. English is the 'business' language in NATO, which helps us to all understand each other."

New world order

"This is my third tour of duty in the Balkans. Previously I saw duty in Croatia, Bosnia, and Hungary. I don't think that 10 years ago if you asked anyone to predict where we would be involved as a nation that many people would have picked the Balkans."

"With the end of the Cold War has come additional challenges and missions such as the peace support operations in Bosnia and Kosovo. I think they are now typical missions for our armed forces to be involved in for the future."

"Many of your readers may find it interesting that the number of deployments and missions have increased dramatically for the armed forces since the end of the Cold War. For example, today you have our military forces located in over 60 nations overseas."

"All of this serves to increase the amount of time that our young men and women remain away from home and family. So these types of missions such as you see in Kosovo are particularly challenging."

2.6-mile Good Friday Prayer Walk tomorrow

Christian Church leaders of Andover, and members of their congregations will gather once again on Good Friday, April 21, at 8:30 a.m. for a 2.6-mile Prayer Walk around the town of Andover.

The walk begins and ends at the St. Augustine Church parking lot on Essex Street. This is the sixth such effort to unite the churches in the work of praying for the community. Last year's walk had 10 pastors and nearly 150 lay people marching under the banner of the cross. This year, 13 churches have been invited to participate.

Nine stops are planned where a clergy representative from one of the participating churches will offer a brief prayer for some part of community life. Schools, town offices, fire and police stations, senior housing, shopping areas and work places will all be the inspiration for prayer. The emphasis is on positive themes of encouragement, hope and blessing.

The idea of praying for the community is in keeping with traditions of the past, when local clergy would walk the perimeter of their parish offering prayers for the crops, economic vitality, and health of their congregants. It echoes efforts in other area communities to bring churches together in prayer, notably the prayer breakfasts in Lawrence.

Organizers said, "Good Friday seemed to be the appropriate time to emphasize both our common heritage of Christian faith and the theme of service to the greater community, as we believe that Christ died for all of humanity on the cross. The symbol of the cross will be the focal point, as we seek the blessing of God for all of the people of Andover."

For more information, contact the Rev. Thomas Goldthwaite at Andover Baptist Church at 475-0166.

Low-percentage tax break for high-tech urged

Finegold pushes 3-percent tax break

Massachusetts is tops in the nation when it comes to being ready for the new economy, according to a recent study by the Progressive Policy Institute, which even ranked it ahead of California's Silicon Valley in areas such as job growth, the number of people with advanced degrees and the success of initial public stock offerings.

Among the statistics are that 724 new software and Internet companies have opened in Massachusetts since 1995, and that nearly 3,000 such companies are based in Massachusetts, including Andover firms CMGI Inc. and NaviSite.

But according to state Rep. Barry Finegold, D-Andover, the state could lose that ranking if it doesn't take steps to make sure it remains more "business friendly" to high-tech industry than neighboring states such as Rhode Island.

One way to do that, he says, is to offer a tax credit to small start-up companies for research and development (R&D). Finegold filed an amendment to the state budget to do that, but then withdrew the amendment because some members felt there wasn't enough time to review the proposal.

"There were just too many questions people had about it," he says.

But Finegold says he will propose the issue as its own bill, after there has been more discussion.

"It's something we needed to do sooner, rather than later," says Finegold. "I think it's absolutely critical to continued growth in the high-tech region."

The current state tax code gives a 3-percent tax break to companies that are able to show that two-thirds of their receipts are for R&D. But, as Finegold learned from a local constituent, that doesn't help young companies that are doing almost all R&D, but have no receipts because they are still developing their product.

Brad Buchold, of Andover, controller for a local start-up called NBX that began in 1996 in Brickstone Square and was bought out by 3Com in March 1999, says NBX had been taking the 3-percent tax credit for its R&D purchases, thinking it qualified.

Finegold — Tax help may keep state's high-tech firms from becoming 'Island communities.'

"We were working on a LAN-based (local area network) telephone system," he says, "and the state audited us for sales and use taxes. They said that, the way the law is written, that in order for us to be eligible (for the tax credit) that actual purchases had to take place."

"So we screamed foul, because we didn't have any receipts yet, but what we were doing was ultimately leading to developing our phone system."

"I got hold of Barry and told him, 'This makes no sense. We played by the rules and have generated more than 100 jobs, and we're dealing with businesses in Massachusetts.'"

Buchold and Finegold agreed that the language of the law needed to be changed to allow the tax break not only based on receipts, but also on the "activity" of a high-tech start-up.

Finegold says the amendment would only cost the state about $3 million in lost revenue, and is aimed at keeping high-tech companies in Massachusetts.

"You can compare it to the defense industry," he says, "where Massachusetts got out there ahead of the curve and produced the technology, and then the rest of the states woke up, and began to work to attract that business."

Rhode Island is working at that right now, he says, and even has a Web site titled Mass-Exodus that is encouraging businesses to move to that state.

Among its incentives are that housing costs are 30-50 percent less, the average commute time is 15 minutes, government can be more responsive to businesses because it is a small state, and the cost of doing business is more than 10 percent less.

Indeed, the list of tax incentives in Rhode Island appear to be much more attractive than those in Massachusetts.

For instance:

- Employees of Rhode Island software companies receive a personal income tax exemption from state capital gains taxes on the sale of company stock.

- Its R&D tax credit is the highest in the country, at up to 22.5 percent.

- The purchase of computer equipment to develop software, or for other R&D purposes, is exempt from sales tax.

- Businesses get a 50-percent tax credit, up to $5,000 per person, over three years to train new or existing employees.

How will a paltry 3-percent tax credit offset that?

Finegold says he doesn't think Massachusetts has to go "toe-to-toe" with surrounding states, "but I don't want us to send the wrong message either."

— Taylor Armerding

When a man looks good, he feels good. When he feels good his life is better. This is the premise upon which master tailor Enzo Fossella of Enzo of Andover has built his substantial custom tailored suit business.

carried the art of the custom suit to new heights.

He bases his style on the traditional European tailoring but he gives every garment added flair by combining that tradition with Italian know-how.

"My goal is to make a man unaware he's wearing a suit. It should fit like a glove," says Enzo. "I have become good friends with many of my customers, they know I care about how they look, that's important to me."

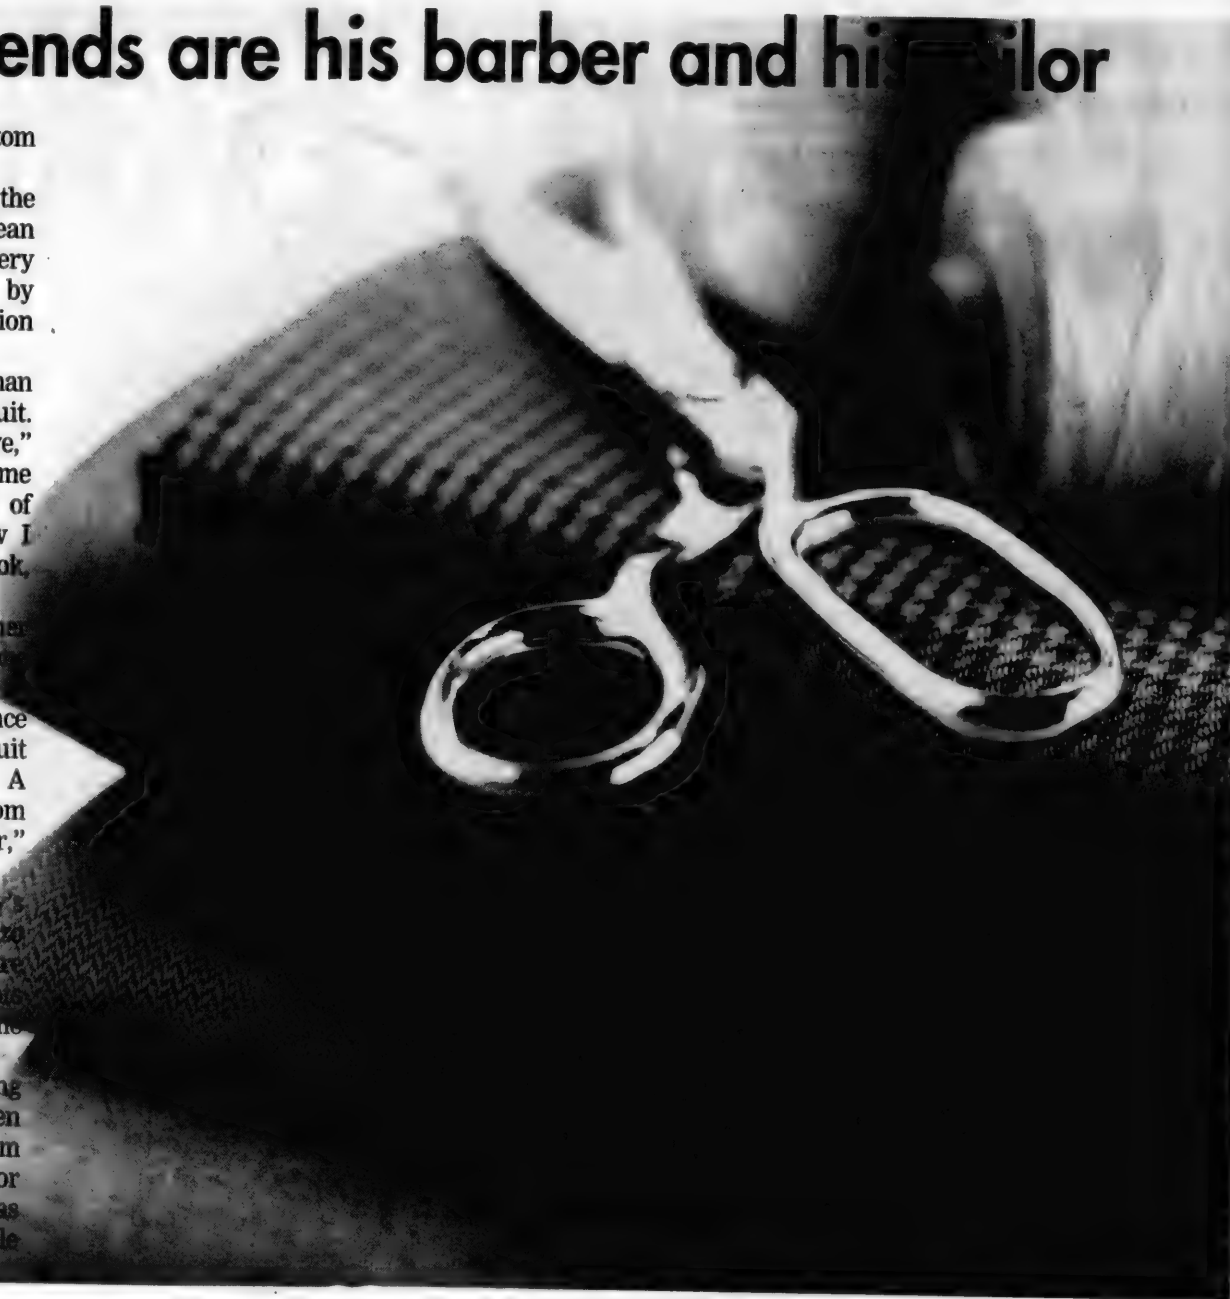

The traditional customer for a custom suit is someone who likes the finer things in life. "It is very difficult, once you've owned a custom suit to go back to off the rack. A beautifully tailored custom suit just fit so much better," said Enzo.

When asked about today's more casual styles Enzo replied, "our customers are requesting lots of sportcoats and slacks too. They love the look and love the feel."

Enzo must be doing something right he has been designing and custom tailoring fine clothing for more than 40 years and has built a substantial clientele from across the country.

"There's nothing better than to see one of my customers walk out of my custom tailor shop looking perfect. I know he's ready for anything that comes his way."

Enzo came to America a young man of only 19 with a dream of becoming a designer. Today Enzo is one of America's 45 remaining master tailors and has Eldred Wheeler - handcrafters of fine 18th century American furniture - will hold its annual Topsfield Tag Sale at the Topsfield Fairgrounds on Saturday, April 29, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday, April 30, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

If you've ever wanted to own a museum quality reproduction, this event should not be missed. Eldred Wheeler is the fulfillment of a desire to create fine furniture in the same manner as early American cabinet makers.

Our own interest in colonial American furniture, coupled with the limited number of original antiques, prompted us to find a way to build authentic, affordable pieces.

Each Eldred Wheeler edition is created by hand and maintains the same traditions as 18th Century furniture in the areas of design, materials, joinery, carving, and finishing.

Come join us with Newton Oriental Rugs at Coolidge Hall. We're bringing truckloads of furniture from our shop in Hingham. For details, please call (877) 779-5310.

Housing market sparks bidding wars in Andover

By Michelle Eld

It's no secret the housing market is red hot right now, but in Andover especially, it's "off the wall", says Joanna Webster of ERA Webster Group.

"Every property we get, we literally get a bidding war on it," she said. So it stands to reason that when homes go up for sale, they're barely on the market before being scooped up.

A shortage on homes drives up prices by skyrocketing the demand.

"Everybody loves Andover", said Nancy Collins, manager of DeWolfe Real Estate. "The fact that it's Andover is a big draw." The inventory for homes is very low right now, she said.

The demand is so high, said Webster, that people are willing to purchase a house in poor condition for $300,000, tear it down and build a new one. Many houses sell by word of mouth before they barely get on the market, she said. And she says she doesn't see an end to this housing market craze soon, predicting it will go on for at least another couple of years.

Pricing the neighborhoods

Collins gave us some list prices of homes throughout different sections of town. She stresses the listing price is not necessarily what a particular home sold for; rather, it's an asking price.

Bidding wars – who's buying property in Andover?

right now. "It's a hot market," she said.

Over in West Andover, particularly on Avery Lane and Stoneybrook Lane, homes start at about $600,000 and go up drastically depending on the size and amenities.

So what would you find in the typical $600,000 home in that area? According to Collins, that price usually includes about 3,200 square feet, nine or 10 rooms and a two-car garage. These homes are fairly new, built within the last eight to 10 years, and sit on three-quarters of an acre to one acre.

Golf courses often provide impressive backdrops for a home, with rolling greens and groomed landscapes. Indian Ridge Country Club is no exception. Typically, houses in that area were built 20 to 25 years ago, in neighborhoods with a mix of colonials, ranches and contemporary homes.

Asking prices range from $550,000 to $650,000 for 3,000 square feet. Again, prices can go even higher, if owners have built additions since purchasing the home.

On Blueberry Hill, off Holt Road, there are houses built 20 to 25 years ago, that have list prices of $700,000 or more.

Collins said the "in town" area is always desirable, featuring smaller lots and older properties with lots of character. These homes, located in, and immediately around, the downtown area, range in price from $325,000 to in

Think your taxes are too high? Learn who qualifies for an abatement and how to get one

Think your taxes are too high?

There are steps people can take if they feel their property has been over-assessed, unfairly assessed compared with similar property assessments or incorrectly taxed as a commercial property rather than a residential one.

The assessment of a home is based on factors relating to the sales of homes in general, as well as to homes similar in style and location. Then, factors such as the number of bedrooms and baths a house has, or whether it has extras, such as a pool, are considered.

According to Andover Assessor Bruce Symmes, a resident can file an application for abatement within 30 days of the third-quarter tax bill, which is issued on Jan. 1. This bill is the most important one, as far as appeals go, because it's based on the new valuations and the new tax rate. Needless to say, residents now wishing to file an appeal must wait until January 2001 to do so.

Responsibility lies with the resident to file an appeal, and to provide proof that the Board of Assessors has valued his or her piece of property incorrectly.

The Board of Assessors must receive the appeal on or before the excess of $1 million, she said.

The higher price bracket applies especially to the Phillips Academy neighborhoods. The lower price range includes smaller capes built in the first half of the century.

Many of the most expensive and desirable homes in Andover are part of a cul de sac neighborhood or subdivision. According to Collins, houses built within the last 10 to 20 years are usually in such cul de sacs or subdivisions.

Some people choose to purchase land and build their own home. Land is in demand in Andover, with asking prices ranging, for example, between $350,000 to $500,000 at Regency Ridge for one lot of land. That doesn't even include the cost of actually building a house on the lot, a cost that can easily match the price paid for land.

Because contractors buy up the land to build million-dollar homes and developments, land is tough to find.

"There's very little available land left that isn't spoken for by builders," said Collins.

The condo craze

But subdivisions aren't the only attraction in this town. Considered a bad investment choice in the 1980s and early '90s, condominiums are again becoming popular.

"Condos are selling out of control," said Webster. "There's a scarcity of them."

And they can go for some pretty steep prices.

A standard condo at Abbot's Pond on Andover Street ranges in price from $300,000 to $400,000, said Webster. The cost goes up — probably to about $430,000 — for a three- or four-bedroom condo with loft, study and living room.

According to Collins, condos at Washington Park on North Main Street can go for $150,000, depending on the condition. Condos at Colonial Drive, located behind the Ground Round restaurant, start in the $60,000 range and go up to $120,000 for a two-bedroom. Luxury condos, such as those being built near the Andover Country Club, are in the $700,000 range.

Recent college graduates and others in their early 20s looking to spend $80,000 to $100,000 on a condo are almost being priced out, said Webster.

Perhaps one reason why condos are so attractive to some buyers now is because houses in Andover and elsewhere are just too expensive. In other words, condo prices are skyrocketing because competition for homes is so high.

Bidding wars ...

As of last year, the median sale price for a single-family home increased more than $80,000 since 1994. The median price in 1994 totaled $232,000; in 1999, the price was about $313,000.

In 1998, only eight single family homes sold for less than $150,000, while 66 homes sold for more than $500,000.

This trend is not just happening in Andover.

According to recent reports, Boston's booming financial and high-tech industries have created such a good housing market that the real-estate bidding wars are getting vicious.

The demand for housing is intense, even though Census Bureau estimates show that Boston's population slipped by about 22,000 people between 1990 and 1998.

According to Webster, Haverhill is one town that's booming with new construction right now. Other big sellers are multi-family homes in Methuen and Lawrence, she said.

A seller's market

"It's definitely a seller's market out there," said Webster. Empty nesters, she said, are moving out of their spacious homes to live in condominiums. They want a smaller living space that requires less maintenance and allows them to leave their homes during the winter months for a warmer climate, namely Florida or Arizona.

But their chances of finding an Andover condo for less than $200,000 are slim, according to Webster, and they're better off looking in a different town.

She also has a lot of elderly customers who want to sell their homes and enter assisted-living communities. In turn, they're getting excellent prices for their houses. "It's a great time for them," said Webster.

But just because selling a house is very profitable, it doesn't mean it's the ideal situation for everyone. People need to line up another place to live, in case their house sells right away, as is often the case, said Webster.

Still, there are people waiting to sell their homes, she said, who know the homes will sell quickly, but who will have no specific place to go after the sale.

The buyers

So who's buying all these high-priced Andover homes?

Webster says she finds most buyers are 30-something young professional couples who have good educational backgrounds, and one child. They want easy access to the highways and Boston, and an easy commute into the city by train.

They also want high-quality schools for their children and safe streets. In short, Andover is considered a great place to raise a family.

first business day in February, and will reply to the appeal within three months of the date it was filed, according to the town Web site. Residents may need to attend a hearing or submit additional information.

If the board grants an abatement — based on the property-value and not the tax-bill amount — the resident will get a notice by mail of the corrected tax amounts.

But if a request for an appeal is denied, there are other avenues to try.

Tax payers can file an appeal with the Appellate Tax Board (ATB) in Boston, although it must be filed within three months of the date of the decision by the town Board of Assessors.

Residents can contact the ATB by calling (617) 727-3100. They can contact the Andover Board of Assessors at (978) 623-8264.

Anyone in Andover can learn their property's assessed value by logging onto the town Web site at www.town.andover.ma.us/. Values are for fiscal year 2000, and owners are listed as of December 31, 1999.

After the maelstrom, sanity will reemerge

Question: What is going on in the investment markets, and what is all this volatility about?

Ryan: Everything happens so fast these days in Wall Street. Market corrections, which used to last for months and years, now can take just days or even hours. Celebrity status is bestowed upon mutual fund portfolio managers after merely one outstanding year, and revoked just as quickly. Even several mutual fund complexes, long revered for their prudent management of risk, had been relegated to the retirement home because they refused to buy dot.com stocks that had no earnings. Common sense had given way to gambling. No wonder that investors feel like they are being swept up in a maelstrom, not quite sure where they will land. The dot.com technology stocks are going through a well-justified corrective process. We see this as a healthy wringing out of the speculative excesses. Unfortunately, the rest of the market is getting caught in the backwash.

Question: How serious is the decline and what does it portend?

Ryan: If you listen to the financial media, you might think that Armageddon is at hand. But upon more sober reflection (and you know how journalists are said to imbibe), Wall Street is merely going through the latest version of the mid-year jitters. This episode is precipitated by concern over inflation and the dot.com bubble. We don't see this as anything other than a normal rotation out of the more speculative tech issues, and into high quality tech and more enlightened traditional companies. This decline is actually healthy. Investors are finally heeding the message that Wall Street is really not a legal casino where you bet on what's hot for now. The securities markets are now, and will forever be, a place where corporate earnings are cherished and blatant speculation is ultimately punished.

Question: You have written in The Ryan Report that many of the profitless internet companies are shams. Is this the market's reaction to that scenario?

Ryan: Things had gotten out of hand at the margin. Hundreds of bad business plans, replete with good ideas but short on common sense, masqueraded as "growth companies" to the delight of the investment bankers and those who might profit from the sale of their securities to an unsuspecting public. The "greater fool theory" was in full swing. Speculators figured that there would always be another sucker right around the corner to whom they could unload their grossly overvalued dot.com shares, right before they thought the bubble might burst. Mercifully, we have experienced a somewhat gentle version of what might have happened. It could have been much more violent had we not been approaching earnings season for corporate America. Earnings look to be 20 to 25 percent better than 1999, and the early company profit reports are encouraging.

Question: What is your view of where the securities markets are going in the immediate future?

Ryan: Once this catharsis is completed, we expect to see the continued broadening of the markets as profitable, traditional "old economy" stocks regain respect from a previously disinterested investing public. The truth is that BRANDS STILL RULE. It's not just about delivery systems. It's about strong brands, and the loyalties they have built up over generations. Brand recognition, combined with an efficient and user friendly internet strategy, spells success. Many of these traditional companies are at bargain prices even after their recent advances. This formerly unhealthy divergence between the tech and non-tech stocks is evaporating, most stocks are now fairly valued, and the speculative bubble has shrunk quite a bit. We are constructively positive because of solid economic fundamentals. We don't see inflation as a major threat.

Diversification is, as always, the key to a successful journey down Wall Street. For years, at Ryan Financial, we have pursued the strategy of utilizing uniquely different mutual funds as the core of our portfolios. We then add several long-term stocks as a layer around that core. For those clients willing to assume more risk in hopes of getting greater profits, we select several timely stocks which we may hold for only a limited period of time.

Question: How has your investment strategy worked?

Ryan: Fortunately, very well. Ryan Financial was recently named to Nelson's World's Best Money Managers for the eighth time. Our first quarter investment results were truly outstanding. Our individual stock selections returned 19.1 percent for the three months, while our tactical asset allocation accounts returned 8.3 percent. For the past one, three, five, and ten years our tactical asset allocation model has beaten 95 percent of the asset allocation mutual funds. Most firms of our size don't even keep performance statistics for their portfolios. We not only keep them but we submit them to Nelson for evaluation and ranking. We are proud to be held accountable for our investment performance results.

Margaret O'Connor is a multi-million dollar seller

Margaret O'Connor has been successfully marketing and selling real estate since 1991. A recipient of several top awards, Margaret has taken steps in proving herself as a top producer and a multi-million dollar seller. With focus and drive, she markets each of her listings with the seller's needs as a guideline for marketing strategy. You will be pleased with her results.

In her continuing dedication to buyers and sellers, Margaret participates in real estate seminars, features her listings on the Caravan Tour, the internet and maintains each listing as part of an on-line site, called the Multiple Listing Service. This enables all real estate professionals to be aware of her specific listed properties, successfully matching each property to a particular buyer. She has the capacity to send daily e-mail updates of homes currently for sale for all her clients.

According to O'Connor "right now the market is hot" so if you're thinking of selling your property within the next few years, don't wait, do it now. A major factor is that the economy is extremely robust and you can get the highest price because of the low interest rates. If you don't act now you will miss an excellent selling opportunity. Why?

Because interest rates are bound to go up and when that happens, selling prices will drop.

O'Connor tells buyers that owning a home means that they're no longer putting rent money into someone else's pocket. Rather they're building equity for themselves while enjoying the pride of ownership. More advantages show up at tax time according to Margaret.

Property taxes and mortgage interest paid on primary residences are deductible for home owners who itemize their income tax returns. While some restrictions apply to such deductions, they are a real benefit for owners who finance a substantial amount of their purchases. Tax deductions are a particular boon for first time buyers who tend to have little cash to work with and wind up with high loan-to-value mortgages. For some it means the difference between buying a home or not, because most of their cash has been tied up in paying rent and income taxes.

Repeat buyers have more equity to work with but they sometimes find extensive financing advantageous. Bear in mind that the larger the mortgage the more interest there is to deduct. For further information, Margaret can be reached at 475-5993 or the new RE/MAX Office located at 44 Park St., Andover.

"New" Oriental rug showroom has been in business for 15 years

The Bijan name may not be immediately familiar, but Bijan has built a large, loyal following while presiding over the bustling rug department of Paine's Furniture for the past fifteen years. Paine's has since moved on, but Bijan is still open for business in the same location on Route 114 in Danvers. Only this time, the sign on the door carries his own name: Bijan's Oriental Treasures.

Bijan aims to have "the largest and highest quality collection of authentic hand-knotted Oriental rugs in the area", and his spacious, newly remodeled showroom is brimming with rugs of every size, shape and description: intricate florals, bold tribal geometrics, magnificent antiques, prized Persians woven on the legendary looms of Ghashghai, Turkeman, Kurd, Meshikin, Afshar, Heriz, Bidjar, Tabriz, Isphahan, Kashan, Nain, and Sarough.

Bringing a wealth of knowledge and the experience of a third-generation family business to his store, Bijan does not acquire his rugs through costly middlemen as many merchants do. Instead, he travels abroad to remote villages and locales, personally selecting each rug and negotiating favorable prices which he passes on to his customers.

Bijan and his knowledgeable staff are always happy to educate interested customers about these extraordinary works of art, which he rightly considers "treasures" of the Orient: a single 8' x 10' rug can take two weavers a year to complete.

In addition to classic designs in traditional colors, Bijan has introduced a selection of "new antiques" in today's decorator colors. These exquisite rugs are made in India of pure hand-spun wool, dyed with natural vegetable dyes, and immersed in an herbal wash which imparts an attractive antiqued patina.

Bijan is proud of his reputation for uncompromised quality and trustworthiness in a business which he feels has been hurt by a proliferation of unethical "fly-by-night" operators and deceptive discounts.

He invites customers to enjoy a refreshingly different shopping experience with authentic Oriental rugs, scrupulously fair prices and friendly service. Bijan's Oriental Treasures offers expert on-premises hand-cleaning and repair of any rug, and provides five years free cleaning with each rug sold.

At these prices,
our runners will go fast.

In honor of the Boston Marathon, we're taking 30% off every one of our gorgeous runners. Sale ends April 28, so run on over soon.

ERA offers personalized service and benefits

By Anne Webster

ERA The Webster Group, located at 89 North Main St., has been providing quality real estate services to the Merrimack Valley for more than three years. Although a relatively new company, real estate is not new to its owner and broker Johanna Webster. Johanna was a top producing agent with Century 21 for more than seven years when she decided to open her own business. By affiliating with ERA, Johanna and her sales associates can offer many new and exciting programs and services to their customers.

Probably the most valuable program is the Sellers Security Plan which makes the claim "We Sell Your House or ERA Will Buy It!" What other statement can bring a seller this type of guarantee?

The enhanced ERA Sellers Security Plan provides homeowners a guaranteed offer of 90 percent of the house's appraised value, based on two independent appraisals, while allowing sellers to accept higher offers during the listing period. The Plan assists homeowners who need to purchase another home quickly but cannot because their current home is not sold.

An assured sale to ERA The Webster Group frees up equity and provides greater negotiating power for purchasing a new home.

ERA is the only national real estate franchise system to offer customers a guaranteed sale on their home.

"The ERA Sellers Security Plan is another example of how ERA The Webster Group is committed to making real estate transactions as easy as possible for the consumer," said Johanna Webster, broker/owner. "Whether we have a young couple relocating for a career change, or an older, recently retired couple looking to downsize, the SSP gives homeowners the negotiating power, equity and peace of mind they need to purchase a new home." To learn more about the Sellers Security Plan and other services, call ERA today.

Discover the luxury of Mercedes-Benz at Smith Motor Sales

Just about anywhere you might go in the world, people recognize the Three-Pointed Star of Mercedes-Benz for the same things: quality, innovation, performance, safety. And, of course, luxury. What you may not realize, however, is that while the thrill of driving a Mercedes is pure joy, the surprising value of owning one is pure pleasure, too. Plus, as a Mercedes-Benz driver, you have a comprehensive support network dedicated to keeping you happy. For a perfect example of all of the above, see the 2000 Mercedes-Benz C-Class.

You'll be amazed at how many people the C-Class makes happy. Your financial adviser will admire how you got so much luxury for such a reasonable price—a value concept endorsed by the selection of both the C230 Kompressor and C280 as Best Overall Values in their class by IntelliChoice. Your automotive enthusiast friends will smile in approval on seeing your new Mercedes, with all the performance and quality that attends the legendary name. And your family will embrace the C-Class for how it uses advanced safety innovations to help protect you. All of which takes a back seat when you get in, turn the key and take off. That's when this supremely capable European sports sedan quickly makes its driver the happiest person of all.

The C-Class Sport Package starts with a highly skilled European sport sedan, and turns it even sportier. All for a shockingly low price tag, too. Tweaks to the C-Class suspension, wheels and tires, make for sharper, crisper handling. Which you get to enjoy from the firmer, deeper contours of the leather-upholstered sport front seats. Grip the sport steering wheel and mark your progress on the ivory-color gauges, backlit at night in crisp amber. And Sport trim on the dash, console, door panels and outside on the B-pillars indicates that this car's got game. Like the finest home furnishings, the C-Class provides superlative comfort. But it also offers much more, that unique brand of luxury—Mercedes-Benz luxury—that elevates the driving experience. You feel it in every sense: handsome lines and curves, colored in subtle tones and warmed by polished wood, please the eye. Fragrant leather scents the air while its suppleness delights the touch. The quiet cabin is the perfect setting for the 8-speaker audio system. All rendered, of course, in delicious style.

Come see and test drive the C-Class at Smith Motors, 420 River Street, Haverhill. Call for more information and hours.

Strong sales of perennials anticipated by local flower growers

Massachusetts flower growers anticipate very strong sales of perennials this season. According to Bob Luczai, spokesman for the Massachusetts Flower Growers' Association, "Perennial sales have more than doubled in the past five to seven years."

top 15 states for wholesale production of ornamental plants. The Bay State's "green industry" generates more than $70 million in annual sales making it the largest agricultural sector in the Commonwealth. Perennials represent a growing category for local greenhouses and nurseries.

Luczai notes that this trend is associated with an overall increase in gardening. "Shows like 'Martha Stewart Living' and 'The Victory Garden' have helped spur a tremendous increase in interest in gardening. It's now the number one past time in the United States," he says.

Perennials tend to be lower maintenance and more drought resistant than other types of plants. They also offer consumers a great diversity in bloom time, blossom shape and form, and color of foliage and flowers. Many perennials are "ever-blooming" and will actually bloom all summer long.

For a list of Massachusetts retail flower growers, call the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture toll-free at 1-877-MASSGROWN.

Professional Profile

Donald P. MacGillivray, L.I.C.S.W.

Donald MacGillivray is a licensed independent clinical social worker. He has been practicing therapy for more than 25 years, providing couple, individual, and family therapy. His area of expertise is in marital counseling.

Mr. MacGillivray believes that the most difficult problem that couples face is the inability to tolerate their differences with decision making and problem solving. "When couples argue, they often argue about how they argue. They don't have the descriptive words to talk about their issues," said Mr. MacGillivray. For couples trying to sort through their problems, he encourages them to develop a greater understanding of themselves first in order to focus on what needs to change for the marriage to work and to bring forth the knowledge about their differences. He helps couples to understand that each person has their own unique way of problem solving and that this needs to be recognized and welcomed with respect by the other.

Many couples often come to him for help when their lives are in crisis and the situation has become magnified. Mr. MacGillivray helps them to take a more objective look at the issues and to recognize each other's differences in dealing with difficult times.

Donald MacGillivray keeps office hours at 10 High St., Andover on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Insurance is accepted. He can be reached at (978) 470-1555. 4/20/00 Laurie Levy

Quota nominated for Golden Award

Quota International of Andover was recently nominated for the J.C. Penney Golden Award by the YMCA of Lawrence.

J.C. Penney honors "outstanding community volunteers across the country who bring hope to those whose lives are less than they should be," says a release.

A panel of leaders from the local area will select four winners and five finalists who will be recognized on May 19 at the second annual Golden Rule Luncheon.

Each winner will receive $1,000 for their qualifying nonprofit organization while finalists receive $250. Local winners will then be eligible for the National Awards Program held in September in Dallas, Texas.

Winners are selected in adult, group, education, and youth categories and each receive a $10,000 contribution.

Quota began its association with the YWCA in 1997 when the Y was preparing to open Oasis House, which offers transitional housing for homeless and battered women and children. After helping to paint the apartments, Quota helped furnish the nine apartments.

On the average, 30 women and their children have been served annually. Although they can stay up to two years, many move into independence within a year. The club has regularly provided clothes for the children and more professional clothes for the women as they move into the workplace.

In addition to its work with Oasis House, Quota has supported other Y programs, and recently donated 200 new books to the kindergarten and preschool classrooms.

AHS Roundup: Track teams remain undefeated

By Rick Harrison

The undefeated Andover High boys and girls track teams swept past Chelmsford recently, continuing their dual-meet mastery of Merrimack Valley Conference opponents this spring with the impressive victories.

Despite a 2-1 loss to Haverhill on Tuesday, the AHS boys volleyball squad is also looking very much like an MVC title contender with a 5-2 overall record in a very competitive and tightly-bunched league.

***

After losing its first two games and scoring just one run in both outings, the AHS softball team rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh to overtake Methuen, 5-3.

Subsequent losses to Nazareth Academy of Wakefield (7-2) and Notre Dame Academy of Tyngsboro (2-1) left the Lady Warriors, who have lost ace pitcher Laura Stone for the season with an ACL injury, at 1-4 overall.

***

The Andover baseball team found the going rough in the inaugural Baseball Showcase, dropping a pair of games to south shore Division 1 powers New Bedford and Brockton at Peter Aumais Park.

The undefeated Whalers pinned a 7-5 loss on the locals, and the Boxers put a 26-0 hurting on Andover which is one of the most lopsided losses in the history of the AHS program.

New Bedford completed a clean sweep by also beating Chelmsford, 10-5, while Brockton settled for a split following its 9-7 loss to Chelmsford at the West Middle School field.

A barbecue was held for the players between games and an All-Tournament Team was selected. Plans are to make this an annual event with the site shifting year to year.

Andover then launched its MVC schedule with a tough 7-2 loss to defending Division 1 champ Central Catholic, the Raiders rallying for six runs in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the victory at Merrimack College.

The three straight losses left Andover's record at 3-4, but the Golden Warriors are still 3-2 in the eyes of the MIAA and for purposes of Division 1 North Tournament qualification.

GIRLS TRACK

Emily Pfeil and Ogechi Ibe won two events each as the Andover High girls track team remained perfect on the season with a 90 1/2 to 54 1/2 Merrimack Valley Conference dual meet victory over host Chelmsford.

The Lady Warriors (3-0) placed first in 11 of the 17 events, sweeping the shot put and finishing 1-2 in the high jump, triple jump, two-mile and 110-meter high hurdles.

During the indoor season, the Andover and Chelmsford girls both went undefeated in the MVC, tied their head-to-head dual meet (43-43) and finished as conference co-champions.

Schedule

Next up for the AHS girls is the annual Tewksbury Invitational Meet this Saturday (10 a.m.).

The locals return to dual meet action next Wednesday afternoon when Central Catholic comes to the Lovely oval (3:30 p.m.).

Andover 90 1/2

Chelmsford 54 1/2

Head coach Peter Comeau's crew dominated the meet that may ultimately decide the MVC Division 1 championship.

Junior Emily Pfeil placed first in both the mile run (5:44.9) and the high jump (4'10"), while junior Ogechi Ibe once again had the best tosses in the discus (110'7") and shot put (36'7 1/2").

Other individual winners for AHS were junior triple jumper Stephanie Pierce (31'7 3/4"), junior 110-meter high hurdler Sheena Patel (16.2), senior sprinter Jenny Hsu (100 meters, 13.9), sophomore Holly Boucher with a swift 2:23.2 clocking in the 800 meters and freshman two-miler Caitlin Geary (12:42.7).

Andover also won both the 4x100 sprint relay (54.1) and the 4x400 relay.

Completing the sweep of the shot put were runner-up Robin Young (30'11 1/2") and sophomore Liz Sullivan (29'4 1/2"). Young was also second in the javelin toss (84'10 1/2").

Winners who also had a second place were Patel (long jump, 15'3") and Hsu (triple jump, 31'7 1/2").

Other AHS silver medalists included high jumper Alexis Contos (4'10"), 110-meter high hurdler Megan Munroe (16.5), freshman 300 meter intermediate hurdler Katie Cail (50.4), sophomore sprinter Julie Marvin (200 meters, 28.7), freshman Stephanie Casper (400 meters, 63.0) and sophomore two-miler Laura O'Connell (12:51.5).

Capt. Liz Conners tied for third in the high jump (4'8 1/2"), while additional third places were secured by junior long jumper Stephanie Pierce (14'2 1/2"), junior Jen Kane (200 meters, 29.3), Capt. Allison Corey (400 meters, 67.1) and Capt. Caitly Murray (800 meters, 2:32.6).

For previously-undefeated Chelmsford (2-1), Danielle Incropera was a double winner in the long jump (15'4") and 400 meters (62.9).

BOYS TRACK

The Andover High boys track team removed any lingering doubts about its depth and strength this season, remaining in the thick of the Merrimack Valley Conference Division 1 dual-meet title fight with an impressive 76-69 victory over host Chelmsford.

"This was a real show of guts, determination and depth," said AHS head coach Peter Comeau.

"Chelmsford had more firsts than we did, but we took 9 of a possible 15 second places and eight thirds to pull it out."

Schedule

Next up for the AHS boys is the annual Haverhill Invitational Meet which Andover will host at the Lovely oval this Saturday (10 a.m.).

The locals return to dual meet action next Wednesday afternoon (3:30 p.m.) when likewise-undefeated Central Catholic (3-0) comes to the Lovely oval for a showdown which might decide the Division 1 championship.

The return of senior Capt. Charles Murnane, sidelined for more than a month with an ankle injury, couldn't have come at a better time.

Murnane scored 11 valuable points with a first place in the 110-meter high hurdles (15.6) and seconds in the high jump (5'8") and triple jump (37'4 1/2").

Senior Brian DeAngelo contributed a victory in the triple jump (37'11 1/4") and a second in the long jump (18'8 1/2").

Junior Ross Inman finished first in the discus (124'2") and third in the 100 meter dash (11.9). Senior Jeremy Spiegel was first in the 100 meters (11.6) and third in the long jump (17'9 1/2"), and junior hurdler Kyle Miller first in the 300 intermediates (42.8) and third in the 110 highs (16.4).

Other AHS victors were sophomore sprinter Bruce Brown (200 meters, 23.6) and junior two-miler Tim Galebach in a personal-best 10:08.9.

Senior Adam Spiller was second in both the shot put (43'4 1/2") and discus (123'1") throws, while senior Dave Cordima nailed down a second in the javelin toss (147'11") and third in the high jump (5'4").

Other key runners-up were junior Ben Perkins (200 meters, 23.7), junior Shahriar Ghandchi (400 meters, 55.3) and junior 300-meter high hurdler Alex Champion (45.2).

Other all-important thirds went to junior shot putter Peter An (38'8"), senior miler Brian Gosselin (4:59.8) and junior two-miler Brendan Ahern (10:34.6).

Matt Thoren was a triple winner for Chelmsford in the long jump (19'5"), high jump (6'0") and 400 meters (53.8).

BOYS VOLLEYBALL

The Andover High boys varsity volleyball team chalked up recent 2-0 victories over Merrimack Valley Conference opponents Westford Academy and Dracut, while also dropping the 2-1 decision to Haverhill.

The locals are currently embroiled in a battle with Lawrence, Haverhill, Lowell and St. John's Prep (all 6-1) for the best record in the conference.

Schedule

The Golden Warriors have a showdown match at home this morning (Thursday) against once-beaten St. John's Prep of Danvers (10 a.m.), and play again next Monday night at Billerica (6 p.m.).

Injury report

Senior setter and team Capt. Kevin Hess suffered a knee injury while playing off-season soccer in a town league last Sunday.

The injury left Hess on crutches, forced him to miss the Haverhill match, and it isn't known how long he will be sidelined.

Andover 2

Dracut 0

AHS had few problems with the visiting Middies on the way to the 15-4, 15-12 sweep at the Dunn Gym.

Ryan Slavin and Chris Morrissey led the attack with five kills each, Slavin finishing 13-for-14 hitting and Morrissey a perfect 12-for-12.

Both were also perfect from the service line, Slavin 11-for-11 and Morrissey 10-for-10.

Kyle McCauley was 9-for-12 hitting, with four kills, and 3-for-4 serving.

Kevin Hess did not make a mistake in his 4-for-4 hitting and 9-for-9 serving performance, while Andy Carter started both games and was 7-for-9 hitting.

Mike Hamilton went 5-for-5 serving and Brian Galluzzo was 9-for-10 hitting and 7-for-9 serving.

"Galluzzo has been a nice surprise," said coach George Sullivan. "He works hard, sees the floor well and picks his spots for hitting and serving."

"We didn't have a service ace in the match," added Sullivan. "Dracut is a good defensive team. It's hard to believe they're struggling so much (1-6 record)."

***

The AHS junior varsity dropped a 2-1 decision to Dracut, winning the first game before losing the last two by close scores.

Playing well for the locals were middle hitters Steve Johnson and Elliott Perkins, setter Stu Smilowicz and Adam Martel.

Andover 2

Westford Academy 0

AHS registered a rare 15-0 shutout victory in the first game at the Dunn Gym, and then overcame 7-0 and 9-1 deficits in game two to complete the sweep with a 15-11 win.

"We tried something new in the second game and it threw us off," admitted coach Sullivan. "We lost focus for awhile and had to dig ourselves out of a pretty big hole."

Brian Galluzzo keyed the first-game shutout by serving 10 straight points, with four aces, and he also served out the match by scoring the final three points in game two. Galluzzo added 5-for-5 hitting and did a good job setting.

Ryan Slavin was 10-for-11 hitting, with a match-high eight kills, and 4-for-5 serving.

Chris Morrissey went 6-for-7 hitting, 4-for-5 serving and he produced six of the Golden Warriors' 14 blocks.

Alan MacLean played strong back-row defense and finished 12-for-12 serving with one ace.

Also playing well were Andy Carter (2-for-3 hitting, one kill, two blocks) and Kyle McCauley.

Andover made only three serving errors in the match.

***

The AHS junior varsity came from behind for a 2-1 win over Westford, losing the first game 11-15 before rallying for 15-3 and 15-5 victories.

Playing well for the locals were Stu Smilowicz (setting), Steve Johnson (hitting), Elliott Perkins (hitting) and Adam Martel (all-around).

Haverhill 2

Andover 1

The host Hillies (6-1) won the first game, 15-9, and came back to capture the third game, 15-4, after AHS won game two, 15-4.

"Without Kevin (Hess) we had to switch things around by using Ryan Slavin and Chris Morrissey as setters," said coach Sullivan, who spent two hours working on new lineup combinations after learning of Hess' injury.

"Haverhill came out flying and we came out tentative in the first game. We looked great in the second game — but in the final game we never got untracked and looked a little intimidated."

Slavin finished 27-for-30 hitting, with 11 kills, and was 10-for-10 serving. He was also 22-for-23 in pass-serve and had eight blocks.

Morrissey went 18-for-19 hitting, with six kills, and 16-for-16 serving. He was also 18-for-19 in serve-receive and 5-for-9 blocking.

Brian Galluzzo contributed 15-for-19 hitting, with three kills, and was 8-for-9 serving with one ace and 20-for-26 in pass-serve.

Kyle McCauley contributed 13-for-18 hitting, three kills, 5-for-5 serving and went 23-for-27 pass-serve. He also had three block solos.

Alan MacLean was 11-for-11 serving, with one ace, and 16-for-24 in pass-serve.

Also playing well were Andy Carter (8-for-8 hitting, four kills, four blocks), Mike Hamilton (7-for-8 serving, 2-for-3 passing), Adam Turbett (3-for-3 serving, 3-for-5 passing) and Steve Johnson in his first varsity start (5-for-5 hitting, one kill, 5-for-9 blocking).

***

Coach Dave Amundsen's AHS junior varsity (3-4) defeated Haverhill, 2-1, with game scores of 15-3, 10-15, 15-9.

Playing well for the locals were Tim An (setting), Shawn Furey (setting), Andy Ahern (hitting), Adam Martel (hitting) and George Lewis (serving and hitting).

SOFTBALL

The early-season struggles continue for the Andover High varsity softball team.

"When we play well defensively we're competitive with everyone," said Andover coach

Stephanie Ragucci. "But when we don't come to play — and it's happened a couple times already this season — we're in trouble. We haven't played well in the first inning."

Andover has allowed nine runs in the first inning of its five games, including three each to Nazareth and Central Catholic and two to Notre Dame Academy.

"We're 1-4 but should be 3-2. We could be in a very serious bind if we don't turn it around quickly."

"We definitely should have beaten Nazareth. It was a game we needed against a beatable team. But we were sluggish at the start, falling behind 3-0 right away, and from that point on it was an uphill battle."

"We're struggling to score runs. We've played five games and five runs is the most we've scored (versus Methuen)."

"This is a very young team and the new kids have to learn how to pick up their play and take it to the next level," said Ragucci.

"We're making the kind of mistakes we can't afford to make — and having trouble with routine plays. The kids have to learn how to deal with adversity, suck it up and play even harder."

"We started out with a tough schedule. Central Catholic and North Reading (defending state Division 3 champion) are strong teams — but you have to play opponents like that to improve," said Ragucci.

"There aren't many soft touches in our league. I think by mid-season we'll be OK, but we have to start winning soon if we're thinking about making the tournament."

"It's harder without 'Stonie' (MVC Division 2 Player of the Year in 1999). But Kaitlin (sophomore pitcher Haugh) is doing well. She's not walking many and she's making the other team hit the ball. Our fielders just haven't been doing the job consistently behind her," said Ragucci.

Schedule

Things did not get any easier this afternoon (Thursday) as the locals played at undefeated Tewksbury (2 p.m.).

The Redmen entered the game 5-0 and ace pitcher Amy Von Kahle was also 5-0 with a no-hitter, two one-hitters and a two-hitter to her credit. In 34 innings she has allowed only two runs and seven hits while striking out 47.

Next Monday afternoon AHS is at Billerica and Wednesday Dracut comes to town (both 3:30 p.m. games).

Andover 5

Methuen 3

Trailing 3-1 after the Rangers broke a tie with single runs in the fifth and sixth innings, Andover rallied to score four times in the top of the seventh for the win.

Sparkling the nine-hit attack with two safeties each were junior Capt. Taylor Traub, junior Capt. Lisa Tisbert and junior Kerri Axelrod.

Capt. Jen Roberge contributed a hit and two RBI, while other safeties were by Allison James and Amanda Camelio.

Tisbert also scored twice and drove in a run, while James and Camelio had a key RBI each and other runs were scored by Traub, Roberge and sophomore Andrea Manners.

Kaitlin Haugh scattered eight Rangers' hit and earned the pitching victory.

Notre Dame Academy 2

Andover 1

The Lancers (5-1) pushed across a pair of first-inning runs, one unearned, and made them stand up as Andover's only answering fire was a fifth-inning solo home run by Jessie DeFrancisco.

Once again Kaitlin Haugh pitched well enough to win, tossing a complete-game two-hitter.

In addition to DeFrancisco's roundtripper, the only other AHS hits were singles by Taylor Traub, Jen Roberge and Andrea Manners.

Nicole Tardiff went 2-for-4 and scored a run for NDA. Tanya Maskaluk laced an RBI single and Nikki Tessier (3-0) earned the pitching victory with six innings of four-hit hurling.

Nazareth Academy 7

Andover 2

The visitors took advantage of some shoddy AHS fielding to grab a 3-0 lead in the top of the first.

The Lady Warriors bounced back with both their runs in the home half, but did not score again as Nazareth pitcher Caitlin Barry blanked the locals on no hits over the final six innings.

Leadoff batter Taylor Traub launched the bottom of the first with a sharp single to left field, and she moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Kerri Axelrod.

Traub took third on Lisa Tisbert's grounder to the mound, and continued home when a throw across the diamond to third sailed out of play.

Jen Roberge walked, stole second, took third on a throwing error by the catcher, and scored the second run on Andrea Manners' single to right field over the first baseman's head.

Kaitlin Haugh allowed only three earned runs in another complete-game pitching performance for Andover. She surrendered seven hits, including two doubles and two triples, and didn't walk a batter while striking out five.

North Reading 2

Andover 1

Last spring the Hornets lost a 1-0 early-season decision to Andover in eight innings, and then went on to win the state Division 3 title.

This year North Reading avenged that non-league defeat by pushing across single runs in the first and sixth to offset a seventh-inning tally by the Lady Warriors.

AHS squandered two golden opportunities to win the game, leaving the bases loaded in the top of the sixth and stranding the tying run at third base in the seventh.

Kaitlin Haugh fired a five-hitter, struck out two and didn't walk a batter. Only one North Reading run was earned.

Taylor Traub, Jen Roberge and Lisa Tisbert had a single each for the locals, while Kerri Axelrod scored the only run in the final stanza.

BASEBALL

The misery multiplied for the Andover High varsity baseball team as archrival Central Catholic erased a 2-1 deficit with six runs in the bottom of the sixth on the way to a 7-2 victory at Merrimack College.

It was the Merrimack Valley Conference season opener for both teams.

Two walks, two AHS errors, a sacrifice bunt and three hits combined to do the damage for CCHS in the pivotal inning.

The uprising spoiled what had been another strong outing for junior lefthander Jeff Volinski (1-1), who stymied the Raiders on two hits over the first five frames.

The Golden Warriors took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first when leadoff batter Kevin Shepard reached on an error and scored on Capt. Sean Lawton's two-out RBI single.

Central tied it in the fourth after Miles Page was hit by a pitch and later scored on a wild pitch.

Andover regained the lead at 2-1 in its half of the sixth. Jeff Marshall cranked a leadoff triple and crossed on a two-out passed ball.

In the Central sixth the key strokes were a pinch-hit two-run single by Mike Hoyer, RBI single by Nick Tuckarelli and run-scoring double by Pat Welch.

Andover had runners at second and third with two outs in the seventh but did not score.

Left-hander Brad Laurin (2-0) went the distance on the mound for CCHS, spacing eight hits while fanning nine and walking only one.

Marshall and Lawton had two hits each for the locals while Danny Hughes, Capt. Dave Powers, Marty DeFrancisco and Volinski added a single apiece.

No one had more than one hit for Central (3-1).

Schedule

Andover hopes to bounce back this afternoon (2 p.m.) at home against Chelmsford (2-4).

Undefeated Billerica (4-0) hosts Andover next Monday, and on Wednesday Dracut is in town for a 3:30 p.m. game to be preceded by the Peter Aumais Park dedication at about 3 o'clock.

BOYS TENNIS

The Andover High boys tennis team, idle during the current school vacation week, improved to 2-0 in Merrimack Valley Conference play recently with a 5-0 romp over visiting Haverhill on a cold and blustery afternoon at the AHS courts.

The Golden Warriors swept everything in straight sets, losing only three games in singles and three in doubles.

Senior Capt. Evan Sideman handled Derek Franz with 6-0, 6-1 ease at first singles, junior Rich Roda stymied the Hillies' Steffan Mueller 6-1, 6-1 at second singles, and senior Capt. Mike Meagher blitzed Pierre Gooding 6-0, 6-0 at third singles.

"Roda did an excellent job against a German exchange student with very good ground strokes," said AHS coach Mike Wartman. "And Meagher was impressive in his first singles match of the season."

Roda moved up to No. 2 singles for the second straight match — and Meagher filled Roda's slot at No. 3 — because junior Gabe Adams remained sidelined with an injury suffered against Concord-Carlisle in the season opener.

Andover's top doubles team of senior Capt. Pete Hughes and sophomore Andy Chiaraluce stamped past Haverhill's George Folopoulos and Steve Torosian 6-3, 6-0.

Second doubles produced a 12-game whitewash as Warriors' freshman Jason Lynn and junior James Kim posted a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Nouc Gang and Scott Ferreira.

Schedule

The AHS boys, 2-1 overall, return to the courts next week with three home matches against MVC rivals Billerica (Monday), Chelmsford (Wednesday) and Lawrence (Thursday).

GIRLS TENNIS

Senior Capt. Jill Oppenheim, the Merrimack Valley Conference Player of the Year in 1999, made her debut this spring with a 6-0, 6-0 sweep against Haverhill's Holly Dinges at No. 1 singles.

That triumph sparked the first of two more 5-0 team wins over the Hillies and Central Catholic, boosting the Lady Warriors' record to 4-0 heading into vacation week.

Schedule

The AHS girls are idle this week and return to the courts with three away matches next week at Billerica (Monday), at Chelmsford (Wednesday) and at Lawrence (Thursday).

Andover 5

Haverhill 0

Backing up Oppenheim in singles were senior Erica Tebbetts at No. 2 and freshman Betsy Pierce in her varsity debut at No. 3.

Tebbetts ran roughshod over the Hillies' Colleen Germann, 6-0, 6-1, while Pierce had little trouble with Erin Collins in a 6-1, 6-3 sweep.

First doubles Jenna Bernstein and sophomore Carolyn Purcell pounded out a 6-0, 6-0 win over Cassandra Stack and Heather Mortimer.

Freshmen Elizabeth Magner and Lauren Fitzgerald made their varsity debut as a second doubles team and cruised to a 6-0, 6-1 triumph over Irena Chilimsky and Lauren Kimball.

Be a part of Peter Aumais Park

Here's what to do if you want to be a part of the dedication project to name the Andover High varsity baseball field "Peter Aumais Park" in memory of former player and 1976 team captain Peter Aumais:

A bank account has been set up to fund the project and checks, made out to the "Peter T. Aumais Baseball Memorial Fund" should be mailed to Daniel Hayes, c/o Morris, Rossi & Hayes, 32 Chestnut St., Andover, Ma. 01810.

Anyone with questions, or wanting further information, may call Glenn Verrette at 617-314-2815 (days) or 475-0664 (evenings).

The dedication is scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon, April 26 before the Golden Warriors' Merrimack Valley Conference game with Dracut.

The inscription on the stone piece at the horseshoe-shaped monument, located off the walkway near the third base dugout, will read:

In memory of our 1976 baseball captain, Peter Aumais. His love for baseball, his teammates, family and friends will keep him forever young. Dedicated April 26, 2000.

It is also hoped that, at a later date, a sign reading "Peter Aumais Park" will be placed on the outside portion of the fence facing either Shawsheen Road or the Andover High main driveway.

Rob Oppenheim of Andover is a sophomore member of the Rollins College men's golf team in Winter Park, Fla.

Oppenheim had a memorable summer of 1999 highlighted by his performance at the annual U.S. Amateur Championships at Pebble Beach in California, where he qualified for match play and reached the Round of 16.

Oppenheim tied for second at the Rollins Invitational this season by shooting a 54-hole 76-73-70-219. That effort earned him Rollins Athlete of the Week honors.

This spring he is averaging 74.3 strokes per round for eight rounds played, after finishing second on the team last fall with a 73 average.

His top placing this spring was fifth at the Silver Springs Invitational.

Rollins defeated Notre Dame by five strokes and placed first in the Georgia College/Bobcat Invitational in Greensboro, Ga.

Last fall the Tars were second at the Yale Intercollegiate and third at both the Presbyterian and Stetson Intercollegiates.

Abby Harris of Andover, a graduate of Phillips Academy and a senior attack on the Union College women's lacrosse team, has been named a pre-season All-American in the sport.

Union, ranked among the top 20 in three polls, opened the season with a pair of Upstate Collegiate Athletic Association victories over RPI (19-2) and Skidmore (8-7 in overtime).

The defending UCAA champions also lost non-league games to nationally-ranked Bowdoin and Middlebury and stood 5-2 overall after seven games.

Through seven games Harris was second on the team in scoring with 25 points on 16 goals and a team-high nine assists.

For her illustrious Union career she has 114 goals and 49 assists.

This spring Harris scored four goals in a win over Hartwick, had three goals and three assists against Vassar, three goals and two assists versus Middlebury and three goals, three assists against RPI.

Robert Mazza of Andover, a junior at Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, earned a letter in varsity 'B' boys ice hockey this past winter season.

Courtney Famiglietti of Andover, a freshman member of the Bentley College softball team, belted her first collegiate home run in a recent 7-0 Falcons' romp over Bryant.

Famiglietti also had a single and scored twice in the Northeast-10 Conference game.

She contributed two hits, including a game-winning two-run double, in a 3-1 victory over conference rival St. Michael's.

Famiglietti entered the week batting .324 for the season.

ATTENTION ANDOVER RESIDENTS

PLEASE READ THIS VERY CAREFULLY!! Do you know . . .

. . . that Andover Town Officials are considering building the Town Yard on Dale Street's toxic waste site of the former Eastern Products Company? Development of that property was defeated by concerned residents in 1987 when an environmental impact statement, called a 21E, showed dangerous levels of toxins and cancer-causing agents on this site. Currently, after nine months of residents working in good faith with the Town Selectmen on traffic calming measures for Ballardvale, the Selectmen have decided to disregard our concerns and consider building the Town Yard in the middle of your neighborhood and the town's historic district.

This site is next to a children's playground and the commuter rail station. The public health concerns of all the residents of Ballardvale are being compromised by Town Officials whose only concern is getting the Town Yard off Lewis Street.

PLEASE VOTE AT TOWN MEETING - April 24 & 25; May 1 & 2

Article #71: VOTE NO to allowing the town to accept the provisions of the Massachusetts Brownfields Act. This act allows agreements regarding payment or abatements of real estate taxes to the owners of contaminated sites. Cleanup standards may be reduced depending on what the Town decides to use this site for. One of the most contaminated sites is off Dale Street in Ballardvale. This cleanup is next to a playground and the commuter rail station. Recent State Brownfield legislation may be a good idea for cleaning up contaminated sites . . . but not a good idea here!

TODAY'S STANDARDS ARE TOMORROW'S LIABILITIES!!!

Article #81: VOTE YES to allowing the town to appropriate the sum of $100,000 toward the development of the Ballardvale Master Plan.

Call your Town Officials, Selectmen, and the Public Health Department for copies of the "shocking" 1987 21E Environmental Report that was done on the Dale Street property. Let's let our Town Government know our concerns. Historic Ballardvale is not for sale!

Published by the aggrieved residents of Ballardvale.

Giles selected for Shriners High School All-Star Football Classic

Andover High senior All-Conference football player Mike Giles has been selected for the 21st annual Shriners High School All-Star Football Classic this summer.

The Classic will be played on Friday, June 23 at Boston University's Nickerson Field.

The game includes about 90 top senior players from throughout Massachusetts. Giles will play for the North team against the South.

Proceeds from the game go to support hundreds of girls and boys receiving treatment free of charge at the Shriners Hospitals for Children across the country.

Giles, a running-back/linebacker, finished last season with a team-high 14 touchdowns, 84 points and over 700 yards rushing for Andover.

For his AHS career Giles had 132 points and over 1,000 yards rushing.

Scott Petersen of Andover is a first baseman on the College of the Holy Cross varsity baseball team this spring.

The sophomore infielder divided limited time last year between second and third base.

Chris Mann of Andover is throwing the javelin for the Holy Cross men's track and field team.

***

Mark Langone of Andover continued his heavy hitting for the Stonehill College baseball team, smacking three hits and driving in a run during a recent 9-5 loss to Northeast-10 Conference rival Merrimack College in a game played locally at Warrior Field in North Andover.

In a subsequent 8-7 win over Merrimack 10 innings, Langone laced a single, scored a run and earned the pitching victory by working hitless and scoreless 10th inning for the Chiefs.

The tough-luck losing pitcher in that game for Merrimack, despite a strong relief effort, was former Andover resident and Austin Prep graduate Brad Batchelder.

Batchelder came on in the third inning, with no one out and six Stonehill runs across the plate, and worked eight innings of seven-hit ball. He allowed only two runs, one unearned, while striking out six and issuing no walks.

***

Sophomore first baseman Steve Vickers of Andover put together an 11-game hit streak for the Bentley College baseball team.

He laced a two-run single in a recent 10-9 loss to Franklin Pierce, and in a 16-8 win over AIC Vickers contributed a single, double and his sixth home run of the spring.

Warrior summer baseball school opens in June

The seventh annual Andover Warrior Summer Baseball School will be held in three different sessions, beginning June 26, at Andover West Middle School.

The three sessions will run June 26-30, July 10-14 and July 17-21.

Daily sessions, for youngsters ages 7-15 years, will run from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the school.

The program, which is open to all area ballplayers who meet the age requirements, is run by the Andover

High varsity coaching staff along with past and present AHS players.

The fundamentals of hitting, bunting, fielding, throwing, catching, baserunning and position play will be stressed.

Campers will be grouped by age and there will be drill stations, individual player evaluations, daily games, awards and T-shirts.

For further information contact Ken Maglio at 978-623-8709.

Coach seeks information

Residents for the Environment urge support

Will town power up for legal fight against Nickel Hill plant?

Local environmentalists with the MVRE (Merrimack Valley Residents for the Environment) sponsored Article 72, which would appropriate $145,000 in legal fees to allow the town to continue its fight against the Nickel Hill Power Plant, proposed in Dracut.

ARTICLE 72

While the activists sponsored the article, they would have no access to the money, which would pay only for the town's efforts to fight the plant.

The MVRE continues with its own privately funded legal battle, says founding member Laura Jordan of Andover.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski says selectmen and Finance Committee members support the article so the town can appeal a decision if the plant is approved by the state Energy Facilities Siting Board.

"Selectmen have a very clear policy that they are opposed to the siting of this plant," Stapczynski says.

Last year Town Meeting voters approved $50,000 for legal fees in fighting the plant.

Jordan says the efforts have made a difference.

"The siting board got a lot of information and uncovered a lot of issues because of Andover, MVRE and other constituents," Jordan says.

Attorney Robert J. Muldoon Jr. of Sherin and Lodgen in Boston has served as Andover's special counsel to fight the siting of the proposed plant.

Jordan says most of MVRE's legal expertise has been performed pro bono, and the group continues to try and raise money and recruit technical experts.

If they can't stop the plant, they hope to "make sure it's the cleanest, safest, quietest plant it could be," Jordan says.

'Grammy Whammy' — 4 kids

Scammell and her husband, Tim Battles, with no biological help, are expecting quadruplets in the next few weeks.

"I was shocked, speechless. Laughing," Scammell says when she heard the news.

She and her husband immediately sold their house and moved to a larger home down the street from Scammell's sister in Groton, who will be taking a leave of absence to help Scammell with the new arrivals.

As a family of three prepares to become a family of seven, Scammell and her husband have done their best to prepare their son Jack for his new siblings by reading him stories, and telling him four babies are on the way.

"He just doesn't understand it, but at least he doesn't know that not everyone comes home with four babies," Scammell says, maintaining a sense of humor from her hospital bed at St. Elizabeth's in Brighton.

Scammell will be 32 weeks pregnant on Easter Sunday. She's expecting two sets of identical twins, but only her husband and her sister know if they are four boys, four girls, or two boys and two girls.

She has since chosen a set of eight names.

While few people may actually expect to become pregnant with quadruplets, twins may not have been such a surprise for Scammell.

Both her grandmothers have twins in their families, she says. And both her grandmothers are named Florence.

"My mother calls it 'The Grammy Whammy,'" Scammell says.

Scammell is the daughter of John and Sandra Scammell, formerly of Andover and now of Rockport.

She graduated from Andover High in 1984, and went into television and advertising.

"But I wasn't happy," she says, until her mother encouraged her to try teaching.

She began with an internship at the Sanborn School, and was hired at West Elementary in 1992.

Scammell says the toughest thing about being bedridden is not being able to play with her son, and not being in school with her students and co-workers.

"One of the hardest things for me was leaving school, right when I started to bond with my kids," she says.

Scammell says she's amazed by how thoughtful and encouraging present and past students and their parents have been.

She also credits her friend Tracy Meech for being available.

Meech, activities director at Academy Manor, has been friends with Scammell since junior high school.

She says St. Elizabeth's Hospital is running a top-notch natal care unit. But it sounds as if she's done plenty of work herself.

"Doctors are in awe," she says, since she and the babies are all in good health to date.

Scammell is tall, in good shape and was running regularly until October.

"I am a medical anomaly. They are amazed at how well I'm doing," says Scammell, who is not quick to complain about being immobilized for weeks or short of breath.

She's been in the hospital for 25 days and will remain there for the duration of her pregnancy.

Meanwhile, she and her family eagerly await the four whom Scammell's students have named "Eenie, Meenie, Minie and Moe."

Scammell has decided on boys names, in order of priority, Sam, Kyle, Cameron and Max, although her husband is still trying to convince her to swap "Max" for "Drew."

But the argument won't be an issue if two of the four — or four of the four — are girls. They would be named Emily, Kendall, Hannah and Brooke, Scammell says.

If two boys are born, they will each have a middle name that was a surname of one of Scammell's grandmothers, Anderson and Taylor, she says.

Needless to say, if girls are born, one's middle name will be Florence.

Teens arrested for weed sales

go up in smoke.

Police arrested Frank Chen, 17, of 12 Cloverfield Drive, and a 16-year-old Andover male last Wednesday, April 12, at the Chen home. They were both charged with possession of marijuana and possession with intent to distribute.

Haggerty says the two students were so well known, that Andover's zero-tolerance drug unit heard rumors about them for months.

"If anyone at the High school wanted marijuana, we believe these were the guys that they would see," says Haggerty. "It's been a problem for the neighbors for some time."

Police used a confidential informant to buy drugs from the 16-year-old at the Chen home before making the arrest.

"(Before the buy) I checked the informant to make sure there wasn't anything on him. I kept him in my sight at all times and told him not to enter the home," says Officer Michael Lane.

The informant went to the front door, gave the accused dealer $40 and was given about one-eighth of an ounce of marijuana wrapped in cling wrap, says Lane.

After hearing from other informants, police went to the Cloverfield Drive home April 12, and spoke to Frank Chen's mother.

"She apparently had no knowledge this was taking place. She gave us permission to look through the house," says Haggerty. "She was very cooperative with us in terms of helping to solve the problem."

Police say they did not find anything in Frank Chen's room, but found a child's baby-blue, red and yellow box filled with $140 in another bedroom. The box was adorned with the word 'Lovely' and cartoon pictures of kids, rabbits and cats playing together.

Told that police could bring a dog to the house, the 16-year-old went into a crawl space and pulled out a brown paper bag with an electric and hand-held scale in it and a large, clear bag filled with marijuana, say police.

Then, say police, the 16-year-old went into another cubby hole and produced a metal tin that contained both larger bags of marijuana and prepackaged bags similar to the one purchased by the informant.

Frank Chen declined to return a phone call, and the 16-year-old did not speak for the record.

Police say they confiscated about 9.47 ounces of marijuana.

"For Andover, this is a substantial amount. When you get to the larger cities, this is just a needle in a haystack," says Haggerty.

"What we're hearing is, there's a lot of marijuana at the school. That's the No. 1 drug there. Whether it's on the uprise I can't say," he says.

But Haggerty doesn't expect this to be the last drug arrest. He says that the Andover drug unit is hearing from students who trust the officers, and are tired of seeing drugs in or around the school.

"This is part of a series of investigations we are doing at the High School," says Haggerty. "We expect, sometime in the future, to make more arrests as this continues."

"This operation is shut down, and we don't expect it to start up again. If it does happen again, we feel confident we'll hear about it."

Some perceptions, reactions at AHS

Andover High School students agree that at least one of the two boys arrested for dealing drugs at school was a well-known supplier.

But they also agree that without him, drugs will still be available.

"There may be some impact in the short term, but over time, it won't make a difference," says senior Pat McCabe, whose comments were echoed by other teens speaking anonymously.

On April 12, police arrested Frank B. Chen, 17, of 12 Cloverfield Drive, and a 16-year-old Andover boy, and charged them with possession of a class D substance (marijuana), and possession with intent to distribute.

Various students who agreed to talk to the Townsmen anonymously had different perceptions of how many students regularly buy or smoke marijuana. Students estimate that between 40 percent and 70 percent of students smoke pot.

Several students say they believe only one of the two students arrested in the incident was responsible, and decry police policies of arresting anyone in the presence of drugs or alcohol.

Some students remain critical of arrests made at a party March 25 where they say few of the 23 students arrested for drinking or possession of alcohol were guilty.

One student interpreted the arrests as part of an "anti-kid policy."

AHS Senior Andrew Fitzgerald says police will never reach everyone in efforts to curb drug use.

"The kids who want to drink and smoke are going to do it anyway. They're not going to stop because of the cops," he says.

What does matter to many students is making a connection with adults.

"Talk to us," says Fitzgerald, though he doubts there is a cure for the boredom and anger associated with growing up.

"Until you get to the heart of what kids are feeling, you'll never stop it," he says.

What a drag — The supposed blood on Alyosha Witness' shirt was not caused by police, but they did arrest him.

While all was quiet on tax day at the IRS, down the road, protesters were arrested Saturday, April 15, after a "Death & Taxes March" of nearly 50 people.

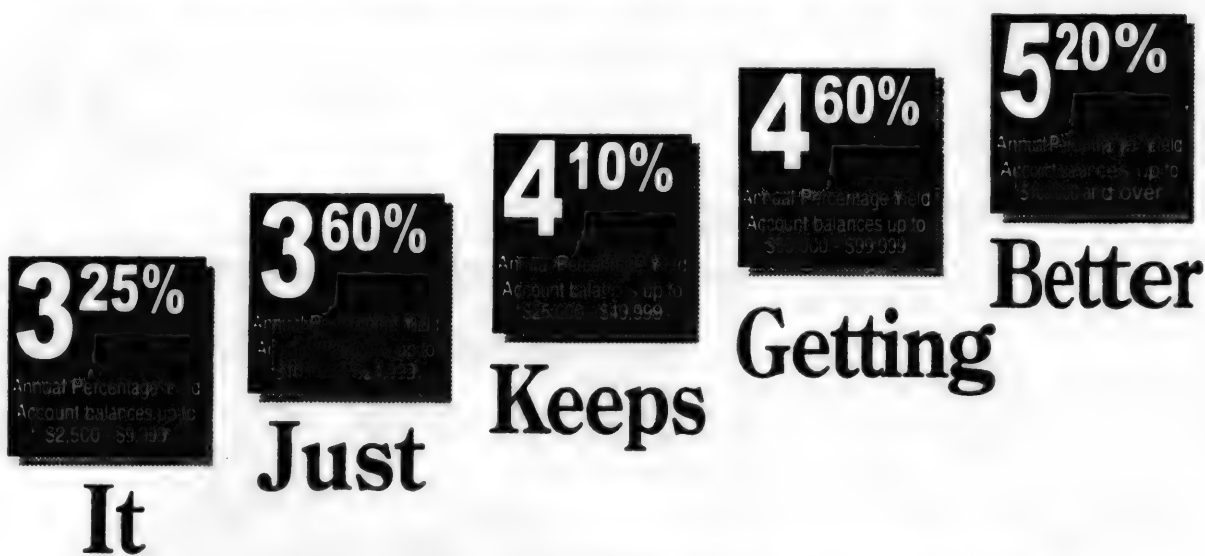

The march began at the IRS and ended at Raytheon where six people were arrested: Harriet A. Nestel, 488 South Main St., Athol; Dade A. Singapuri, 67, of 142 High St., Amherst; Sean P. Donahue, 25, of 92 Cambridge St., Lawrence; Thomas G. Jackson, 39, of 20 Charles St., Dover, N.H., and Alyosha Isreal Witness, 32, of 267 East St., Petersham. All were charged with trespassing. Police also arrested David Roger Diamond, 57, of 93 Henry Law Ave., of Dover, N.H., for malicious defacement of property.

According to a protester Eddie Dyer of Lowell, who took part in the rally, and has been arrested in the past, the protesters were "celebrating a resistance to a culture and an economic system based on war and the weapons of war."

Tuesday morning, police arrested a second wave of protesters who blocked traffic entering Raytheon around 6 a.m. Police arrested five people and charged them with trespassing and disturbing the peace. They were Marc J. Tumeinski, 31, 15 Oxford St., Worcester; David Matthew Maciewski, 27, of 52 Mason St., Worcester; Duffy Scott Schaeffer, 41, of 52 Mason St., Worcester; Thomas P.
